UNABLE TO BREAK THE ITALIAN LINES

All Attacks Made by the Austrian Forces End in Failure

ITALIANS ARE POUNDING POSITIONS ALONG ISONZO

Rumors of German Offensive in Western Theatre of the War

Rome, July 7.—Austrian forces are attacking the Italians at many points along the front, but according to messages from General Cadorna all attacks are being repulsed with heavy losses to the enemy.

London, July 7.—Petrograd asserts that a distinct check has been inflicted on the Austro-Hungarians near Krasnik, in southern Russian Poland, where the invaders are threatening one of the most important railroad connections with Warsaw.

The claim directly contradicts the Vienna official report, which states that the Russians have suffered a defeat in this section. Otherwise the Russian and Austro-German reports agree that quiet prevails along the remainder of the eastern front. Italy keeps up her heavy battering tactics against the Austro-Hungarian positions along the Isonzo river. Vienna states there have been particularly fierce but fruitless attacks on the lower Isonzo, between Gorizia and the sea.

Rumors continue to reach London from many scattered sources of a great German offensive against the western front of the allies, with Calais, on the English Channel, as the objective, but actual reports from this war theatre are scarce.

ENEMY WAS DRIVEN BACK SEVERAL TIMES

Member of Princess Pat's Describes an Action; Majority of Officers Fell

London, July 7.—Pte. Will Dalby, of the Princess Patricia's, writing from the front, describes an engagement as follows:

"We had been in the trenches fifteen days when, about six o'clock in the morning, the Germans started a concentrated artillery fire. Within half an hour a regular inferno of shell and shrapnel fell inside, killing one man instantly. Luckily the rest of us, lying flat, sustained only a few scratches."

"The explosion was awful. I thought my head was blown in. I ran my hands over myself but found I was all right. Then we all rushed out. I dropped in the first vacant part of the trench I could see, where I lay flat in the bottom all that day."

"In the midst of the shelling the Germans tried to advance under cover of their fire. They were beaten back again and again. Our fellows fought like lions. We lost most of our officers killed or wounded. A more gallant lot of gentlemen could not be found."

"When the British regiment came up to support us we found the men were proper samples of the British bulldog breed. They calmly jumped in amongst us, set their Maxim guns, handed us cigarettes, and simply told us they were a little out of wind as they had had quite a run. We gave them a cheer as they came up."

"Early next morning we were relieved."

NEEDED FOR MUNITIONS, STATES LLOYD GEORGE

London, July 7.—Steps have been taken by the British authorities to prevent the further exportation from Great Britain of lead, spelter, antimony, nickel or any other metal necessary in the manufacture of munitions of war.

Announcement to this effect was made by Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, minister of munitions, in the House of Commons this afternoon.

GREATER ACTIVITY ON WESTERN FRONT

London Not in Doubt as to Outcome of Huns' Attempt Against Calais

DRIVE TOWARDS WARSAW HAS LOST ITS FORCE

Short Review of Official Reports of Past Twenty-Four Hours

London, July 7.—German attacks on the British, French and Belgian lines which bar the Kaiser's way to Calais stand out to-day in interest here over the subsiding German attack on Russia. Indications are that the German drive against Warsaw has lost its first power and that Grand Duke Nicholas is striking back with force.

Austria declares that the Russian forces have been split at Khasnik, but this Petrograd denies and claims of victory hitherto made in concert by Berlin and Vienna to-day are made by Vienna alone, the Germans claiming advantage only in the northern sector of the Russian front.

The British success at Ypres apparently has been followed by desperate German attempts to take back the trenches, and a terrific battle of artillery is in progress along that portion of the front.

From other parts of the western theatre comes reports of a rapidly intensifying conflict. Unofficial sources declare that the ten army corps, transferred from the eastern theatre, are to make a dash for Calais and that they rapidly are reaching the scene of action. Indications are that this big assault may have begun already.

No doubt is felt here that the allies will be able to hurt the Germans back. They have been preparing for months for this effort by the Teutons, and while Russia has borne the brunt of recent fighting in the east, a steady strengthening of the allies' western line is understood to have been pressed in anticipation of this onslaught.

No further news of importance of events in Albania has become known here, but on the Italian front the Austrians are reported active with artillery.

The following is a summary of the official announcements of the past twenty-four hours:

British, French and Belgian—Fighting with big guns is reported as increasing all along the British front, particularly near Ypres, where several German infantry attacks against the trenches taken by the British are reported to have been broken up with great losses to the enemy. Paris reports a French gain on the heights of the Meuse and artillery duels in the Argonne and the Vosges.

London is greatly interested in the proceedings in Parliament. It is understood that a demand will be made that the navy provide guards for all important ships against the activities of German submarines. Rumors of dissension between Sir John French and Lord Kitchener persist but there is no real information available.

Russian—Petrograd denies the Austrian claims of a severe Russian reverse near Krasnik and records the capture of 2,000 Teutons near there by an offensive against the Austrian flank. The repulse of the German allies between the Bug and the Wleprz rivers is confirmed.

Confidence that Warsaw is beyond the reach of the Teuton drive seems great, and the general tone of reports is that Grand Duke Nicholas soon may resume the offensive along the whole front.

German and Austrian—On the eastern front Berlin claims only a small gain in Northern Poland, with the capture of 600 prisoners. Vienna admits that the resistance of the Russians against the Austrian advance is stiffening, and hints that a new Russian army has appeared to oppose the Teutons' advance. Nevertheless the claim is made that the Austrians continue to make progress. Berlin declares that two French attacks near Les Eparges were repulsed, but makes no comment on the advance of the British north of Ypres. No inkling is given as to whether the general attack aimed at Calais is on. Vienna dismisses the Italian situation with the statement that fighting is in progress and that several Italian attacks were repulsed.

Italian—Rome announces a steady though slow advance along the Isonzo front, it being admitted that the Austrians are in very strong positions.

Portugal—Lisbon reports that fighting along the front of the mountains continues.

PRINTS DENIAL

London, July 7.—A Vienna dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company by way of Geneva says the Fremdenblatt prints an authorized denial that Austria at any time made overtures with any country for peace. This the Fremdenblatt states, is issued as a specific denial that Austria hoped for a separate peace with Serbia.

WILL ASK ADMIRALTY TO MAKE EXPLANATION

London, July 7.—Members of the House of Commons to-day announced that they would ask the admiralty to explain why warships were not dispatched more quickly to the rescue of the steamship Anglo-Californian.

F. HOLT IDENTIFIED AS ERICH MUENTER

Man Who Wounded Morgan Was Man Charged With Having Killed Wife

Glencove, L. I., July 7.—Frank Holt, who attempted to take the life of J. P. Morgan and who committed suicide last night in the Mineola jail, was identified as Erich Muentner, the Harvard instructor who disappeared after being indicted as the murderer of his wife, Leona, in Cambridge, Mass., in 1905.

The identification was made by S. P. Smith, state detective of the district-attorney's office of Middlesex county, Mass.; Theodore Hillier, an automobile man of Cambridge, and A. T. Brown, a Boston newspaperman.

Chicago, July 7.—Positive identification of Frank Holt, who wounded J. P. Morgan, and who is dead, as Professor Erich Muentner, the missing Harvard professor, who was alleged to have murdered his wife, was made here by Professor Chester N. Gould, of the University of Chicago.

Professor Gould, in a statement made public to-day, admitted that he had identified Muentner, who was a former pupil at the University of Chicago, while at Cornell University last November.

Professor Gould's statement in part follows: "When I arrived at Cornell University last November to engage in research work I was introduced to Frank Holt, but paid little attention to him at that time. He asked me how Cutting and Allen, two University of Chicago professors, were getting along. I told him and asked if he knew them. He said he did not but had heard of them."

"Holt's carriage and speech had stayed with me and reminded me of someone, but I could not remember whom. Then my mental associations began to work and I said: 'I know who it is. It is Muentner.'"

"I had every opportunity to observe him and hear him speak German and English and there can be no doubt that 'Frank Holt' was Erich Muentner."

New York, July 7.—Frank Holt, who shot J. P. Morgan, lay dead to-day in an undertaking establishment at Hempstead, L. I., and the New York police had to-day announced that the trunk containing 134 sticks of dynamite which he believed he planned to wreck public buildings in New York and other cities.

An autopsy early to-day established the fact that Holt committed suicide by leaping from the top of his cell door in the Mineola jail.

Walter A. Jones, the Mineola coroner, issued a statement after the autopsy had been performed by the prison physician. He said: "Holt came to his death by a compound fracture of the skull and cerebral hemorrhage caused by a fall."

PAY WILL BE WITHHELD UNTIL WORKERS RETURN

Privilege Will Not Be Granted for Labor Other Than in the Fields

Ottawa, July 7.—Leave of absence of one month may be granted to non-commissioned officers and men of the expeditionary forces within Canada for the purpose of enabling them to take part in the harvesting work throughout Canada. This will be granted upon the following conditions:

1. The privilege is to be granted only to well-conducted and deserving non-commissioned officers and men.

2. They must proceed on leave and wear during their absence their working suits, leaving their clothing and equipment with their units.

3. Pay and allowance will be withheld during the period of leave of absence but will be paid on the return of each non-commissioned officer or man concerned to the headquarters of his unit and upon proof being furnished that during the leave granted him such non-commissioned officer or man was engaged for and had worked in harvesting operations.

4. To establish this fact such non-commissioned officer or man should be directed to bring with him and hand to his officer immediately upon his return from leave a certificate from the person or persons for whom he worked during his leave. Any non-commissioned officer or man who misconducts himself during such leave will forfeit his pay and allowance for such period as the commanding officer may determine.

MORE INFORMATION SENT TO PRESIDENT

Messages From Ambassador at Berlin; Officials at Washington Still Hoping

Washington, July 7.—Further messages from Ambassador Gerard were transmitted to-day to President Wilson at Cornish, N. H., outlining the point of view of the German government on submarine warfare as embodied in a tentative draft of the German reply to the last American note.

The dispatches tend to show that Germany is anxious to bring about a compromise on the question of her submarine campaign, but there are indications in official quarters that the proposals in their political form are not acceptable to the United States. Just what means will be adopted to inform Germany of the disapproval of the United States is not apparent. It is believed, however, that Ambassador Gerard will be instructed within a day or two to make clear in advance of the receipt of the formal and final copy of the German note that he is unable to make any comment.

Although from press dispatches and other sources it appears that the German proposals are unsatisfactory, the situation is not regarded in well-informed circles as hopeless, much encouragement being drawn from the fact that a tentative draft of the note was submitted to the American ambassador. This it is believed, indicates that if the preliminary drafts are satisfactory there may be changes made designed to meet the American point of view on submarine warfare.

MUST SERVE TEN YEARS.

Venice, Italy, July 7.—Captain Liebscher and Engineer Hoppe, of the German steamship Leman, were condemned to-day to ten years' solitary confinement on charges of spying. The other members of the crew were acquitted.

ITALIANS ADVANCING ON THE LOWER ISONZO

Rome, July 7.—The Italian advance on the Lower Isonzo continues slowly in the face of heavy opposition offered by the Austrians, who are strongly entrenched and plentifully supplied with artillery and machine guns.

HAVE HUNS ANOTHER USELESS SCHEME?

Will They Try to Establish Submarine Base Off Eastern Canadian Coast?

THEY WISH TO STOP THE SHIPMENT OF MUNITIONS

San Francisco, July 7.—A special dispatch to the Chronicle to-day from New York says:

"Germany plans to carry her submarine warfare into American waters, according to a reserve officer of the German navy, who is understood to be cognizant of the intentions of Admiral von Tirpitz, chief of staff of the German admiralty."

The plan as outlined provides for the establishment of a submarine base off the eastern Canadian coast, the purpose being for submarines to sink vessels leaving Halifax and Quebec for British ports.

The Germans feel sure that the scheme can be carried out without any question arising as to the legality of the proceeding or the violation of the Monroe Doctrine. In well-informed German circles rumors of an important submarine campaign against Canadian trade-ships have been rife.

It has been generally known that von Tirpitz has bent all his energies to attempting to devise methods by which his undersea fleet can prevent the great quantities of munitions shipped from Canada to the British forces reaching their destination. It is admitted freely also that Germany is loath to risk another such controversy with the United States as that brought on by the Lusitania affair.

Officers of the United States submarine service think it is a logical step for Germany to take. Further, United States officers in command of war vessels say that there is little that could be done to thwart this. The only methods that could be employed, they say, are embraced in the use of destroyers and aircraft, neither of which has proved highly effective.

LUNATIC HAD 200 STICKS OF DYNAMITE

Holt Was Well Supplied; Detectives Are Searching for Sixty Sticks

Glencove, L. I., July 7.—The authorities of Nassau county joined the New York city detectives to-day in a painstaking search for more than twenty-five pounds of dynamite known to have been delivered and unaccounted for by Frank Holt, the assailant of J. P. Morgan, the man who set the bombs in the United States capitol last Friday and who committed suicide during the night by jumping twenty-five feet to the floor of the jail.

In the belief that the missing explosive might have been placed aboard a steamship leaving this port prior to last Saturday, a warning by wireless was spread over the Atlantic during the night by plants along the eastern seaboard.

The trunk found last night in a storage room above a livery stable and garage in West 33rd street, New York, contained 134 sticks—67 pounds—out of 200 sticks of dynamite known to have been shipped to and received by Holt, under the alias of C. Hendricks, at Syosset, L. I., recently. Six sticks were used, it seems established to-day, by Holt when he went to Washington.

Three of these sticks of dynamite were used, according to Holt's statement, in making the bombs placed in the capitol; the other three sticks were found in a suitcase on the lawn of J. P. Morgan's estate.

This would leave 60 sticks, or about 30 pounds, of the explosive unaccounted for. Although Holt was quoted as saying that he had used the 60 sticks in his experiments in the house, he rented in Central Park, L. I., this statement was not believed. Nor did the condition of the premises at Central Park indicate that explosives had been used, although it was believed possible that Holt might have destroyed several sticks in his experiments there.

Where the remainder of the shipment was, engaged practically the entire attention of the district-attorney's detectives to-day.

ENEMY MADE GAIN NEAR MEUSE RIVER

Slaughter of Turks at Dardanelles Described in Official Report

London, July 7.—Repulsed in their attempts to recapture the trenches on the east bank of the Ypres canal, which were lost to the British, the Germans to-day abandoned frontal attacks and began a heavy bombardment of the British and French positions. The French artillery is replying vigorously.

The official statement issued by the war office this afternoon states that the Germans, in a new offensive in the forest of Apremont, near the Meuse river, made a gain. The Teutons succeeded in piercing the French lines for a distance of 700 yards.

This fact indicates that fighting is in progress over almost the entire fighting front in France.

Paris, July 7.—The following official statement was issued this afternoon:

"In the region to the north of Arras the bombardment continued all last night. Two German attacks, neither one in force, against the railroad station at Souchez were repulsed."

"On the heights of the Meuse at about 9 o'clock at night a fresh German attack against our positions on the southern side of the ravine of Sonvaux was checked by the fire from our batteries. At the same time the German delivered an attack to the west of this ravine, which also was repulsed."

"To the southeast of St. Mihiel the enemy, after a bombardment of great violence, took the offensive last night along a front stretching from the hill which commands the right bank of the river Meuse to the south of Ailly, as far as the locality known as Cow's Head (in the forest of Apremont). At one single point in the Vaux Ferry region they were successful in penetrating our first line along a front of about seven hundred yards. At all other points they were repulsed with heavy losses."

"In the eastern part of Le Prete forest we checked a fresh German attack which was preceded by the throwing of flaming liquids."

"There is nothing to report from the rest of the front."

Paris, July 7.—The war office this afternoon gave out the following statement in reference to recent operations at the Dardanelles:

"At the Dardanelles on the 5th of July the Turks delivered a general attack, the most important they have undertaken since their efforts in the early days of May. Their purpose was to drive us into the sea."

"At 4 o'clock in the morning a very intense artillery fire was opened on our first lines, as well as on the zone behind the lines occupied by French and British troops. The enemy subsequently endeavored to deliver several infantry attacks, but not one was successful in coming as far as our trenches. Decimated by our artillery fire and mowed down by our rifles and machine guns, most of our assailants never left the battlefield. During the action batteries of the enemy on the Asiatic coast fired without interruption. A Turkish cruiser also took part in the engagement. Aviators of the enemy bombarded our lines."

"At the end of the day a group of about 15 British and French aviators flew over the Turkish aerodrome at Chanak and threw down several bombs. The principal hangar was struck by a bomb."

BOMBS WERE FOUND ON THREE VESSELS

Bankdale, Lord Erne and Another Steamship Reached Port Safely

New York, July 7.—Three steamships which sailed from this port for Havre and reached the other side in May, it was learned from an authoritative source to-day, were found to have unexploded bombs aboard.

The vessels were the British steamships Bankdale, which sailed from New York May 7 for Havre, and Lord Erne, which sailed April 29, for the same destination.

The third steamship did not go to Havre but put into Falmouth. The Bankdale and Lord Erne, both British freighters, were under charter to and were cleared by the French line. Officials of the French line here to-day declined to discuss the matter.

FIENDISH ATTEMPT MADE BY F. HOLT

Dynamite is Placed Aboard Liner, Purpose Being to Destroy Her at Sea

WROTE A LETTER TO HIS WIFE AT DALLAS

Wireless Messages Reached Both the Saxonia and the Philadelphia

New York, July 7.—Frank Holt, who attempted last Saturday to assassinate J. P. Morgan after placing a bomb in the capitol building at Washington, which exploded Friday night, planned to destroy either one of the trans-Atlantic liners Saxonia and Philadelphia by dynamite, which it is believed he had placed aboard the vessel before she sailed from New York for Liverpool, July 2.

Holt so had advised his wife in a letter which was received by her at Dallas, Texas, on or before yesterday. This letter, Police Commissioner Woods, of the New York City police department, announced to-day, was taken by Mrs. Holt and her father to a former governor of Texas. The former governor, whose name was withheld, communicated with Major Pullman, head of the Washington, D. C., police force, and Major Pullman at once transmitted the information to the United States navy department and police headquarters here.

Warnings by wireless were sent broadcast over the Atlantic advising the Saxonia and the Philadelphia to steer toward each other. Commissioner Woods announced that the navy department had arranged to send a fast cruiser after the liners.

The Philadelphia replied that everything aboard had been identified and that all was well.

Police Commissioner Woods announced this afternoon that the Saxonia had been caught by wireless and advised to steer toward the Philadelphia.

The Cunard line and the American line endeavored during the forenoon to reach the steamships by wireless.

At both offices it was said it would be practically impossible for anyone to pass the many lines of guards at the piers and to place explosives aboard the ships. The Cunard line stated that there were six lines of guards protecting its vessels from intruders.

In Holt's letter to his wife, he advised her to watch the newspapers of July 7, and told her that she would see in those papers just what he had done.

The fact that such a letter had been written by Mr. Morgan's assailant presumably prior to his attempt on Mr. Morgan's life was known to the police at 9 o'clock yesterday morning, but no public announcement was made of it until to-day. The first word of his letter came from Glencove. Its contents were divulged by a man who had talked with Holt in his cell for a long time yesterday. This man refused to permit the use of his name, but because of his standing there was no doubt as to the authenticity of his assertions.

The text of Holt's letter, telegraphed to the navy department, was as follows:

"A steamer leaving New York for Liverpool should sink. God willing, on the 7th. It is the Philadelphia or the Saxonia, but I am not quite sure, as these left on the second or third."

On the margin of the letter was written: "Take this off until after it happens."

The substance of Holt's letter was sent by radio to the commanders of the two vessels as well as the department's report that it had been unable to verify that explosives had been put aboard one ship or the other. Two other trans-Atlantic liners left New York about the same time and naval officials expected that they also would pick up the message and make investigations. The vague nature of Holt's message made it possible, officials thought, that some steamship other than those named had been marked for destruction.

New York, July 7.—The American line to-day received a wireless message from the captain of the steamship Philadelphia, saying that everything aboard had been identified and that all was well.

The Saxonia has 324 passengers aboard, of whom 115 are in the cabins. The Philadelphia has aboard 611. Of these 205 are in the first-cabin, 295 in the second and 200 in the steerage.

Dallas, Tex., July 7.—Admission that Mrs. Frank Holt received a letter yesterday from her husband intimating that he had planned to blow up one of the trans-Atlantic liners with time-bombs was made to-day by Mrs. Holt's attorney here, J. E. Cockrell. Mrs. Holt previously had denied having received the letter.

RUSSIAN FORCES ARE STEMMING ADVANCESerious Losses Inflicted on Enemy to East of Krasnik

Petrograd, July 7.—The following official statement was issued last night: "In the region of Muraviev and Shavli (Kovno), west of the middle Niemen on the Narew front and on the left bank of the Vistula no essential change has occurred. There has been desultory firing, which occasionally became violent. There also have been isolated skirmishes of a minor nature, especially when mines were exploded. "On the front between the Vistula and the river Bug extremely desperate fighting took place on Sunday evening and Monday morning in the sector of Urzedow-Bychawa (north of Krasnik). "The offensive of the enemy to the east of Krasnik was stopped by a blow which we delivered on the flank on the heights to the northwest of Wilkolaz. There we inflicted serious losses on the enemy, capturing on Monday morning more than two thousand prisoners, including twenty-nine officers, while about two thousand of the enemy's dead lay before our trenches. "We repulsed yesterday new attempts at a new offensive between the Wieprz and the western Bug, as well as on the village of Krylow. "Along the Upper Bug, the Zelota Lipa and the Dalester, no fighting took place on Sunday or on Monday morning.

Vienna, July 7.—The war office gave out the following statement yesterday: "The Russians, who in the second battle of Krasnik were defeated by the army of Archduke Joseph Ferdinand, are retreating in a northern and north-eastern direction, pursued by the Austrians, who are pressing the attack. "The Austrians on Monday captured the district of Cieszanow and the heights north of Wyszynka. Under pressure of our advance the enemy is retreating on the Wieprz beyond Tarnograd. Our booty in this fighting has increased to forty-one officers and 11,500 men and seventeen machine guns. "On the Bug and in East Galicia the situation is unchanged. "On the Zelota Lipa and Dalester rivers quiet prevails."

GERMANS ATTACKED
NEW GROUND IN VAINFailed to Drive British From Trenches Captured North of Ypres

London, July 7.—Field Marshal Sir John French, commanding the British expeditionary forces in France, reported yesterday that his forces had captured 200 yards of German trenches on the extreme left. He also announced that 80 Germans were taken prisoners in the engagement. "The text of his communication follows: "July 6.—Since the last report there has been no change in the situation on our front. The fighting has been confined mainly to intermittent artillery duels, the feature of which has been the employment by the enemy of a large quantity of gas shells, particularly in the neighborhood of Ypres. During this period the enemy exploded eight mines at different points on our front without doing any damage. On the other hand, on June 30 we blew in 50 yards of the enemy's front line north of the 4th, north of Ypres, a German sap was blown in by our artillery fire and a platoon of infantry advanced to complete its destruction. The few Germans who survived the artillery bombardment were driven out with the bayonet, and a machine gun in the trench was found to have been destroyed. Our casualties were insignificant, and the platoon returned practically intact to its own trenches, having succeeded completely in its mission. A German wireless report of the 5th, claiming that they had repulsed an attack with sanguinary losses on the Pilem road, presumably was intended to convey the enemy's version of this affair. "On the morning of the 5th Germans rushed a barricade on the Ypres-Roulers railway after two hours' bombardment, but a counter-attack by our troops at once recaptured the position. "This morning, on our extreme left, north of Ypres, we captured about 200 yards of the enemy's trenches, taking 80 prisoners. The French on our left contributed to the success of this enterprise with the fire of their guns and trench mortars.

Paris, July 7.—The following communication was issued by the war office last night: "British troops have repulsed several counter-attacks directed against the trenches they occupied southwest of Pilem. They captured 80 prisoners and inflicted heavy losses on the enemy. "The Germans have bombarded Arras, and in particular the cathedral, with incendiary shells. Rheims likewise has been shelled. "In the Argonne there has been cannonading, but no infantry actions. On the heights of the Sonvaux, on the ridge of the ravine of the Sonvaux, where the Germans had gained a footing and succeeded in maintaining it from June 27, and we have pushed beyond that. "The enemy, after a violent bombardment, delivered a counter-attack, which was taken under the fire of our machine guns and our barrier fire. The Germans retired in disorder. They suffered heavy losses. "In the region of Fey-en-Haye and of La Pretre forest there has been an intermittent bombardment with shells of all calibres. "In the Vosges, renewal of activity by the artillery of the enemy is reported, notably at Fontenelle, Hilsenfirst, Hartmann's Wellerkopf and Thann, which have been bombarded."

SAYS DEEP EXCITEMENT
HAS SEIZED THE HUNSReventlow the Ruthless, Chief Fire-Eating Savage, Writes in Berlin Paper.

Berlin, July 7.—Count Reventlow has published in the Deutsche Tages Zeitung another violent article about submarine warfare and the American note. He takes as his text the Washington dispatch to the London Times about the forthcoming German reply. The article concludes as follows: "It is not too much to assert that deep general excitement has seized the German people at the very thought that the German empire can be expected to abandon the submarine war or to let it become a hollow form. The German people cannot conceive how anything of the sort can be demanded. "We have countless proofs of the existence of this deep excitement in Germany and it is not without importance for the United States also to know this. Seldom has a measure of war been welcomed with greater satisfaction and watched with more passionate sympathy than the submarine war against the trade of Great Britain."

HON. JAMES H. HOWDEN
ON STAND AT WINNIPEG

Winnipeg, July 7.—Before the royal commission which is investigating the election charges, James H. Howden, former attorney-general, said there had been a tense situation between the lieutenant-governor and the government, and the lieutenant-governor had seen fit not to accept some recommendations made as to the personnel of the first royal commission. Mr. Howden said he had not been convicted of the urgent necessity of the former cabinet resigning. He thought it should have stayed in office to clean up the mess. It was an effort to retain the Conservative majority that he made the alleged arrangements with Chambers for the dropping of the election protests.

True Economy—

After all is said and done, Robin Hood Flour, although slightly dearer than usual, represents the cheapest food to be obtained. If this is a fact, to reduce the high cost of living, buy the best flour and in that way have your bread and other bakings so tempting and delicious that the family will demand and require less meat and other expensive foodstuffs.

SPLENDID FEAT, SAYS
SIR IAN HAMILTONLeader Describes Landing of Forces on the Gallipoli Peninsula

London, July 7.—"Throughout the events I have chronicled the Royal Navy has been father and mother to the army. Not one of us but realizes how much we owe to Vice-Admiral de Robeck; to the warships, French and British; to the destroyers, mine-sweepers and patrol ships and to all their dauntless crews, who took no thought of themselves, but risked everything to give their soldier comrades a fair run-in at the enemy. "Thus General Sir Ian Hamilton, commander-in-chief of the allied troops at the Dardanelles, pays tribute to the navy at the end of his first full report describing the purple days of the landing on the Gallipoli peninsula. "The commander-in-chief's dispatch to the war office is of great length, but most of the events already had been chronicled in other official dispatches from him. "General Hamilton admits that "it was touch and go" many times before the invaders established a footing. In several instances half of the landing parties were killed or wounded. "The Turks had turned the landing places into death traps," the leader writes. "So strong, in fact, were the defenses that the Turks well may have considered them impregnable, and it is my firm conviction that no finer feat of arms ever has been accomplished by the British soldier or any other soldier than the storming of these trenches from open boats on the morning of April 25. "General Hamilton speaks of "long lines of men being mown down as by a scythe." Of the endless chains of wire entanglements he writes: "Again the heroic wire-cutters came out. Through the glasses they could be seen quietly snipping away under the hellish fire as if they were pruning in a vineyard. "Of the Australians he says: "Like lightning they leaped ashore, and each man who did so went straight with his bayonet at the enemy. So vigorous was the onslaught that the Turks made no attempt to withstand it, and fled from the ridge, pursued by the Australian infantry. "A shortage of ammunition prevented the allies from gaining the hoped-for footing on Atchi Baba. "Had it been possible to push in reinforcements of men, artillery and munitions, Kritika should have fallen, and much subsequent fighting for its capture would have been avoided. "Up to May 21 the net result of the operations was the repulse of the Turks and the infliction upon them of very heavy losses. At first we had them fairly on the run, and had it not been for those inventions of the devil—machine guns and barbed wire—which suit the Turkish character and tactics to perfection, we should not have stopped short of the crest of Atchi Baba. "General Hamilton pays high tribute to the French troops, who lost heavily."

Chicago, July 7.—B. Savo Gjurashkovich, reported to be the secretary of the Montenegrin foreign office, also is held at Bielebe. It is said he was on his way to Mexico. Both men probably will be brought to Chicago, where there are twenty-three Serbs and Montenegrins who were taken from a train on similar charges last month. They were in Minneapolis at that time and were believed to be trying to get out of the country.

TOOK POISON AS HE WAS GOING TO PRISON

Minneapolis, Minn., July 7.—Count J. Curt Garden von Knobelsdorff, supposed scion of German nobility with an uncertain career in the United States as a social lion and a forger, is dead. He took poison when on his way to the state penitentiary to serve an indeterminate sentence for a statutory crime, and died at the city hospital. He denied his connection with the German nobility when faced with the criminal charge.

ATTACKS REPULSED
AT SEVERAL POINTSAll Attempts of Austrians to Dislodge Italian Forces
Failed

Rome, July 7.—The following official statement was given out here last night: "In the Tyrol and Trentino region the Austrians attempted on Monday to attack Forcella, the Col. di Mezzo, to the west, and the three summits of Lavaredo, but were repulsed, leaving in our hands many prisoners, arms and munitions. "Along the Carnic front the Austrians on Monday night resumed an attack on the entrenchments north of Val Grande. They were counter-attacked and thrown back with heavy loss, abandoning arms and bucklers for the infantry. "Important forces also attacked the Italian position on Avostano peak, but the troops defending it, having allowed the enemy to approach a short distance, counter-attacked and repulsed them."

Udine, Italy, July 7.—The Italian attack in the Carso region has been successful, although being carried on against a territory which is full of caverns, grottoes and crevasses. A report telling of the capture by the Italians of 900 prisoners in two days on a front of five or six miles, shows, in the opinion of military authorities, a considerable advance.

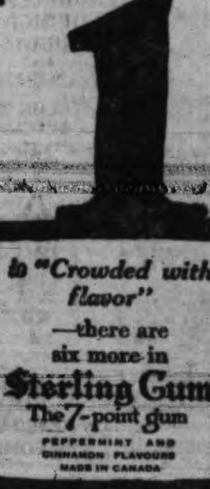

Vienna, July 7.—The following official statement was issued yesterday: "The fighting in the Gorizia district on Monday developed into a general battle, with the attack made by the third Italian army. About four enemy corps advanced under the protection of a formidable artillery fire against our front from the bridgehead at Gorizia to the sea. The attacks were repulsed completely. The enemy suffered terrible losses. Thanks to the praiseworthy attitude of our troops, especially the infantry, all the positions remained in our hands, notwithstanding the numerical superiority of the enemy."

GOUNARIS ENDEAVORING TO CLING TO POWER

London, July 7.—The Greek cabinet, under Prime Minister Gounaris, apparently is ready to defy popular opinion as expressed in the recent election, the returns of which made it evident that a vast majority of the nation is in favor of intervention on the side of the allies. "The Athens correspondent of the Daily Telegraph sends a dispatch that the cabinet has announced that it has no intention of resigning, although the Venizelos party won the election with a clear majority of 180 in the chamber of deputies. Instead, the government is making every endeavor to win over the Venizelos deputies. "The Gounaris ministry, which is against any participation by Greece in the war, has the backing of King Constantine and the queen, sister of the Kaiser. Against the ministry is Eleutherios Venizelos, the Cretan lawyer, the most popular man in Greece, who resigned the premiership because of a clash with King Constantine. He is openly for intervention in order that Greece may co-operate in the settlement of the Turkish situation when the war is over.

Profits That Were Made on Hospital Boxes and "Housewives"

Ottawa, July 7.—That certain retail druggists in the early stages of the war succeeded in making fairly profitable contracts with the militia department was demonstrated again before the war contracts commission yesterday, when Sir Charles Davidson probed the contract of Thomas A. Brownlee, of Bank street, Ottawa, for the supply of hospital boxes for the expeditionary forces.

The story, briefly stated, is that mobilization was under way in August last and the medical boxes, with equipment, were needed. Colonel Jones went to Mr. Brownlee, who already had been supplying drugs to the department, and made an arrangement to get hospital boxes. A requisition was sent to the director of contracts, and on the basis of the arrangement made by Colonel Jones the order was placed with Brownlee. No tenders were called for. Brownlee proceeded to buy the boxes, five different kinds, thirty of each. The big boxes, No. 1, were obtained from Parke, Davis & Company, and sold to the department at a profit of about 49 per cent. The others were obtained from the National Drug Co., and turned over at a profit of about 48 per cent.

In most cases the goods were direct to the department, and were not handled by the contractor except that in the wholesale houses he looked them over. Brownlee's total transactions, including business secured by tender, amounted to $36,420. Taking the hospital boxes and the other business together, he figured his gross profits at $8,923.19, or 24 per cent, and claimed that after allowing for overhead charges his net profit on Government business was 19 per cent.

For boxes Nos. 1 to 5 the respective Brownlee prices to the department were $225, $365, $75, $50 and $18.50. The prices he paid for them were: $216.50, $355, $50, $40 and $12.50.

The department afterwards secured elsewhere by tender a further supply of similar boxes, and this time the prices for the corresponding numbers were: $450, $55, $47, $50, $31.10 and $19.50.

The next contract taken up was that of the sale by the Two Maes Co., of Ottawa, of a number of "housewives" to the militia department. Stewart McClenaghan, the head of the Two Maes Company, said that the company between August and January by tender supplied 100,000 housewives for $52,000, or 53 cents each. He estimated that these articles cost about 4 cents each, but could not give the exact figure without going through the invoices. Mr. McClenaghan said he had not been asked for this by the public accounts committee.

"We have come to the conclusion that the public accounts committee was rather superficial in its inquiry," remarked Mr. Thompson.

Mr. McClenaghan stated that the Two Maes is a joint stock company. The company got all the profits, there being no division with other parties. Mr. McCann, assistant directors of contracts, stated that the housewives were made from a war office sample. Some housewives had been bought by the department on a smaller order. The cost was 55 or 56 cents, as compared with 52 cents paid to the Two Maes Company. He admitted that no effort had been made to secure tenders on the housewives from other firms, the reason being that the department was in a hurry.

An Easy Way to Increase Weight

Good Advice for Thin Folks.

The trouble with most thin folks who wish to gain weight is that they insist on drugging their stomach or stuffing it with greasy foods, rubbing on useless "flesh creams," or following some foolish physical culture stunt, while the real cause of thinness goes untouched. You cannot get fat until your digestive tract assimilates the food you eat. Thanks to a remarkable new scientific discovery, it is now possible to combine into simple form the very elements needed by the digestive organs to help them convert food into rich, fat-laden blood. This master-stroke of modern chemistry is called Sargol and has been termed the greatest of flesh-builders. Sargol aids through its regenerative, restorative and purifying action the blood and intestines to literally soak up the fattening elements of your food and pass them into the blood, where they are carried to every starved, broken-down cell and tissue of your body. You can readily picture the result when this amazing transformation has taken place and you notice how your cheeks fill out, hollows about your neck, shoulders and bust disappear and you take on from 10 to 20 pounds of solid, healthy flesh. Sargol is absolutely harmless, inexpensive, efficient. D. E. Campbell and other leading druggists of Victoria and vicinity have it and will send you a sample of Sargol if you are not satisfied as per the guarantee found in every package. Caution.—While Sargol has given excellent results in overcoming nervous dyspepsia and general stomach troubles it should not be taken by those who do not wish to gain ten pounds or more.

MAN WHO WOUNDED*J. P. MORGAN IS DEAD

Frank Holt Committed Suicide in Jail; More Dynamite Found

Mineola, N. Y., July 7.—Frank Holt, the Cornell university professor who shot J. P. Morgan in his home near Glen Cove last Saturday, committed suicide in the jail here last night.

While several of the jail authorities declare that Holt killed himself by climbing through the opening at the top of his cell door and then plunging to the narrow court below, Holt's keeper says he is positive that the prisoner was killed in his own cell, where he says he found the body.

There were many conflicting reports as to the manner in which Holt had met his death, but it was established definitely through Dr. Cleghorn, the jail physician, that Holt had died of a fractured skull.

A thorough examination of Holt's cell failed to disclose, according to the jail authorities, any weapon or implement of any kind which Holt could have used to kill himself.

Coroner Walter Jones after viewing the body said: "Undoubtedly a suicide, and undoubtedly the man jumped."

The body was taken to the morgue in Hempstead, where Dr. Cleghorn was prepared to perform an autopsy.

New York, July 7.—A trunk containing 124 sticks of dynamite with fuses attached was found by the police late last night in the house at No. 343 West Thirty-eighth street. The police said that it had been sent there by Frank Holt, and that it arrived three days ago.

600,000 SOLDIERS ABOUT PETROGRAD

Russia Has Great Masses of Men Ready to Be Sent to the Front

New York, July 7.—Dr. B. R. Ward, of New Haven, Conn., who arrived here yesterday on the steamship United States from Copenhagen, after spending a year in Russia, said:

"I left Petrograd about the middle of June. Despite the Russian reverses there was no indication of discouragement. Thousands of new soldiers are in readiness to be rushed to the front as soon as the danger of another shortage of munitions is past. They are awaiting ammunition and equipment. Within ten miles of Petrograd over six hundred thousand soldiers are encamped."

"While Russia is not receiving much help from Japan in the form of munitions or men, I know of my own knowledge that hundreds of trained Japanese officers are engaged in drilling Russian troops in the use of heavy artillery. At the hotel in Petrograd where I lived there were seventeen Japanese artillery officers, the majority of whom had served at the siege of Port Arthur. They made no secret of their presence or of what they were doing."

PHIPPEN'S EVIDENCE;*PREMIER'S STATEMENT

Inquiry at Winnipeg; No Foundation for Howden's Statement, Says Norris

Winnipeg, July 7.—Frank H. Phippen, a former judge of the court of appeal, testified yesterday before the commission which is investigating the Pullerton charges. He said that throughout the negotiations with Hon. A. B. Hudson, attorney-general, the latter had not been anxious to come to any arrangement. Mr. Phippen had urged the discontinuance of the royal commission in favor of a civil suit, declaring that Horwood and Salt were out of the country and the commission could not compel evidence outside of Canada. In a civil suit, however, these witnesses could be secured. Mr. Hudson had stated that any arrangement made should hinge on two points: first, that Sir Rodmond Roblin's letter of resignation practically must admit the correctness of Mr. Hudson's charges; and, second, that the Phippen commission must agree that the arrangement was the proper thing.

But Mr. Hudson had stated distinctly, said the witness, that there was no arrangement on the part of the new government that Kelly should be continued as contractor on the new parliament buildings. Mr. Hudson also had stated plainly that the new government must be free to bring any action it had a right to bring on evidence produced before the Mathers commission.

In his opinion, the witness said, Mr. Kelly was getting nothing out of the arrangement, but Mr. Hudson had refused to give way. Twice witness had drafted a memorandum regarding Mr. Hudson's charges to be embodied in Sir Rodmond's resignation, but Mr. Hudson had not considered the wording strong enough. The third time he had managed to satisfy Mr. Hudson, but doubted whether Sir Rodmond would sign what he had drawn up. Mr. Hudson, however, would accept nothing less. He and Mr. Hudson then had approached Chief Justice Howell, who, as head of the profession, would be a desirable person to approach the Mathers commission. Chief Justice Howell had agreed to see the commission in the matter, provided the lieutenant-governor agreed to the step. They had telephoned the lieutenant-governor and also Chief Justice Mathers, but both were out. Later both Chief Justice Howell and Chief Justice Mathers had told him that the lieutenant-governor had agreed.

When Mr. Phippen had told Kelly about the statement to be included in Sir Rodmond's resignation the contractor "went up in the air," but finally had given assent. It was the understanding, witness said, that in view of the arrangements the commission would make an interim report.

Mr. Phippen had returned east and left the matter in Chief Justice Howell's hands. The arrangement not having gone through, he had returned, and Mr. Wilson had told him there had been a change in the letter of resignation. Witness thought he had been "double-crossed" in the matter. Witness said he had not been a party to any sinister arrangement. The whole affair had been honest and proper, as he had not thought Kelly could get a fair trial otherwise.

Premier Norris, in conversation with a representative of a local paper, denied most emphatically the statements made by ex-Attorney-General Howden, linking the former's name with the alleged $50,000 election protest deal. Among other statements made by Mr. Howden was one to the effect that he had told Mr. Norris there was a deal on to settle the election protests, in which a big sum of money was concerned, and that Mr. Norris had said that any arrangements Wm. Chambers—who now is a Liberal agent—should make would be all right. This statement, the premier says, is absolutely without foundation.

HUNS DETERMINED THEY WILL BE RESPECTED

Brussels, July 7.—An order has been issued by General von Bissing, German governor of Belgium, providing a year's imprisonment for school teachers, directors or inspectors who indulge in actions or statements in their teachings or in other school exercises calculated to create or affect an anti-German feeling.

Power is conferred upon the German officials to supervise and inspect schools at all times. Courts-martial will have jurisdiction over violations of this order.

IN ONLY 782 CASES.

London, July 7.—In only 782 cases has it become necessary to amputate one or more limbs of British soldiers admitted to hospitals in the British Isles and France since the commencement of the war to the present time, according to a reply made yesterday by Harold J. Tennant, parliamentary under-secretary of war, to a question in the House of Commons.

IMPORTANT GAINS.

London, July 7.—The under-secretary of state for war, H. J. Tennant, denied in the House of Commons, that the war office was concealing from the public any news of a serious reverse at the Dardanelles. On the contrary, the allies had made important gains on the Gallipoli peninsula in the last fortnight.

CAN BE SAVED ONLY BY REASON AND LOVE

London, July 7.—Israel Zwingwill has written the following address to be read at a conference on the "Pacificist Philosophy of Life," to be held in London Friday next:

"Please convey my greetings to the conference. Called though it is to consider abstract questions, these, like the laws of projectiles, are not without their bearing in a world of practice. In fact the chief obstacle to early peace is the current delusion that it is possible to root out a great military power and insure our children against war. This notion has not even moral value. We cannot be killed by the sword, but only, as this conference will teach, by transformation of intellectual conceptions and by moral evolution. Tennyson, who is considered out of date though he predicted Zeppelins, really has said the last word on the subject: 'Move upward, working out the beast, and let the ape and tiger die.'"

"In short, all war is gorilla warfare and can end only when the gorilla is worked out. Even, therefore, if we could utterly extirpate Germany and leave our children a legacy of compulsory military peace, they would be like the children of millionaires, who generally go to the dogs. Every generation must work out its own peace or fight its own battles. There is no pre-natal salvation. The world can be saved only by reason and love, but even of these, each generation must bring its own."

FEW SUBSCRIPTIONS FROM THE DOMINION

Ottawa, July 7.—With regard to the British war loan it is not thought here that there will be Canadian subscriptions to any considerable amount. Some days ago the British chancellor of the exchequer was reported as intimating that financial institutions in the dominions might employ their surplus funds more wisely in the purchase of domestic securities which otherwise might find their way to London, where the market is required for imperial and other governmental issues. It is believed that restrictions upon flotations will become more stringent as the war continues.

FINED BY FELLOW HUNS.

Frankenthal, Bavaria, July 7.—Jean Ganss, factory director, commercial councillor and member of the Reichstag of the criminal court, has been fined 255,000 marks for making false returns in connection with the levying of the armament tax. The fine amounts to twenty times the sum of which the government contends it was defrauded.

The Kaiser, it is said, has decided to strike off all the British princes from the roll of the order of the Black Eagle. Now that this bird has proved to be as black as he is painted, this seems to be an act of common justice.—Punch.

SECURED $200 AND MADE THEIR ESCAPE

Little Rock, Ark., July 7.—Seven bank robbers early to-day engaged in an hour's hot pistol battle with more than one hundred citizens of England, London county, near here, drove their attackers into the main hotel of the town, after failing to dynamite the safe of the Bank of England, and escaped in an automobile after marching in close formation down the main street of the town and seriously wounding N. W. Whitlock, town marshal. Five charges of an explosive were set off unsuccessfully, by three members of the gang while the others outside, by a continuous fire, drove off the armed townspeople. Weapons for the attack were taken by the robbers from a hardware store which they broke into before entering the bank. They secured about $200 from the tills in the cashier's cage.

NOT UNDER ARREST.

Portland, Ore., July 7.—A train bearing a party of 147 alleged Montenegrin recruits, bound from Globe, Arizona, to Vancouver, B. C., stopped here to-day and the agent in charge, A. E. Gurasevich, was taken to the office of United States Attorney Clarence L. Roames. Representative of the attorney's office stated, however, that the men were not under arrest.

CARS FOR RUSSIA.

Berwick, Pa., July 7.—Announcement was made here to-day that the American Car & Foundry company had closed an order with the Russian government for 4,100 box cars.

THE INVASION OF RUSSIA.

From the Galician boundary the Bug river parallels the Vistula in a northerly course through Poland for approximately one hundred and seventy miles, after which it flows abruptly westward, joining the other river at Novo Georgievsk, about forty miles northwest of Warsaw. The average distance between the two great rivers, where they parallel one another, is something more than a hundred miles, being greater at the Galician frontier and gradually diminishing up to the point where the one suddenly turns west to join the other. Thus the two rivers bound a cul-de-sac one hundred and seventy miles long by one hundred miles wide. On the Vistula, the western boundary of this enclosed area, are the fortresses of Novo Georgievsk, Warsaw and Ivangorod. On the Bug is the great military stronghold of Brest Litovsk, which is supplied by four railways connecting it with Moscow, Kieff and indirectly with Petrograd. From Brest Litovsk, a railway runs westward sixty miles to Lukow, equidistant between Warsaw and Ivangorod, from which branches extend northwest and southwest to these two Vistula fortresses. Farther south another road connects the two big rivers, running south-eastward from Ivangorod through Lublin and across the Bug to Kieff, in Russia. Several branch railroads run south from the Brest Litovsk-Warsaw-Ivangorod road to the Ivangorod-Lublin-Kieff road.

The German front in Poland and Galicia extends from a point beyond Przasnysz, northeast of Warsaw, in circular form across the Vistula, then along the Bzura and Rawa rivers west of Warsaw and sweeps eastward again across the Vistula south of Ivangorod, where it enters what we may call the big territorial sack. Through this it passes in a southeasterly direction into Galicia, where it follows the Bug and the second Lipa rivers as far as the Dniester. It is part of the centre of that German line which now is advancing through the territory between the Vistula and Bug with the object of seizing the Ivangorod-Lublin railroad, the southern line that links the two rivers. The possession of that road and the occupation of Ivangorod are of vital importance to the Teutons. Should their present offensive fail their position in that sack would be precarious. Their best means of escape would be over the route by which they advanced—from the Galician border—the opening of the sack, and even there it would be necessary for a large part of the army to cross the San and Tanew rivers, which almost close up the entrance. This army has no railroads behind it, the country is swampy, besides being complicated by several rivers, and the highways have been made very difficult by the retreating Russians. If the Ivangorod-Lublin railroad could be seized and Ivangorod captured the German centre would have a hole in the side of the sack through which to escape. They could cross to the west of the Vistula at Ivangorod, and, if necessary, return to Silesia over the Ivangorod-Beuthen railroad, without touching Galicia at all.

Thus the Germans in that region are in a trap, and it remains to be seen whether they will be able to spring it. Von Mackensen is only seventeen or eighteen miles south of Lublin, and fighting of the most desperate character is going on. The Russians will make every effort to prevent the capture of that line and the fall of Ivangorod in consequence, and a few days will determine whether they will be able to do so. Ivangorod bears the situation east of the Vistula the same relation Verdun bears to the French and German armies in France. If Ivangorod remain in the possession of the Russians, the Germans will be handicapped by the necessity of bringing in supplies from Galicia on the south, over bad roads and swamps, not only impairing their offensive powers generally but lengthening their lines of communication and diminishing their fighting strength at the critical point. With Ivangorod in their possession the Germans east of the Vistula would be in touch with the Germans west of it, and they would be in direct railroad communication with Cracow. In similar circumstances the fortress of Verdun in eastern France prevents the German armies on the Alsace getting supplies over the short and convenient railway route from Metz. That road happens to run through Verdun, and Verdun is in French hands. Consequently German supplies must traverse three times that distance over the circuitous route through Belgium.

A military writer in a London paper aptly likens the position of the Germans on the east front to that of the man who had the wolf by the ear. He dared not let go and he would be drawn to other wolves if he hung on. The Germans thought that by piercing the Russian line on the Donajec in western Galicia they would reach the rear of the Slav armies massed along the Carpathians, thereby destroying them and crippling Russia's military power long enough to enable them to deal effectively with the western allies and the Italians. But the skill of the Russian leaders and the marvellous endurance of the Russian soldiery forestalled that calamity. Von Mackensen then decided to accomplish his end on the San. He broke through at Przemyśl, but again was eluded. Then he had the wolf by the ear. Regardless of cost, he continued to smash forward, and finally, at Lemberg, thought he was about to achieve his purpose. But the Russians seriously defeated his right wing on the Dniester and withdrew their whole front to more formidable positions. The Germans and Austrians had regained most of Galicia, they were re-established in its capital, but their main object remained unattained. They had lost more than half a million men; they had used up thousands upon thousands of reserves which ought to have remained at home for future emergencies; they had shot away tons upon tons of ammunition, but as far as the main issue of the war was concerned they were worse off than when they started. Thus they had to continue their advance, and hence we find them accommodating themselves to the traditional Russian plan of campaign—the campaign that has ruined every nation that ever fell in with it—by following the Muscovites into their own peculiar territory. The Russian armies are no longer in any great danger even if they are defeated. They could evacuate Warsaw and the whole Vistula line and they would be no less formidable than they have been at any stage in the war. Millions of fresh men, none of them over forty years of age, are concentrated at Petrograd, Moscow, Kieff, Odessa and other centres. Thus if Germany took the Vistula line she still would have the wolf by the ear. She would have to tackle the real thing—the line of the Bug—and finally she would find herself weakened and bleeding in the grip of the gigantic power she had not been able to do more than irritate. Defeat to Russia in these campaigns only may prolong the war, provided, of course, the victory is won by the Germans without serious losses; Pyrrhic successes by the Teutons actually will shorten it. On the other hand, a serious defeat to the Germans whether in the Vistula-Bug sack or on the enemy's right flank in Galicia would bring irreparable disaster to the central empires.

THE TOBACCO FUND.

In a letter addressed to those who promoted the concert in aid of the United Service Tobacco fund, Lieut.-Col. Lorne Ross says: "There is nothing so acceptable to the men, doing their turn in the trenches in the wet and cold as to have a plentiful supply of cigarettes and tobacco. When I wounded the first thing a man calls for is a cigarette, and if the people in your audience could see the soothing effect it has upon the nerves and the relief it gives them in their suffering they would realize how much the men appreciate the gifts of smoking materials sent them."

Lieut.-Col. Lorne Ross has just come from the trenches, where he took part in a number of fierce conflicts and in the ranks of our gallant soldiers. His opinion on the tobacco question is supported by the men themselves, and we may be sure that the very last thing Kitchener, French or Joffre would think of would be the deprivation of smokers of tobacco. People, snugly and comfortably remote from the awful area of war, who are attempting to interrupt the progress of the various tobacco fund movements, no doubt are actuated by what they believe to be good intentions, but we are confident that the public generally will not support an attitude which in its effect is nothing less than one of refined cruelty towards men who are risking their lives for the cause of liberty and humanity.

DISAPPOINTED.

A contemporary remarks that the comments in this paper on Sir Richard's return showed extreme disappointment. We were disappointed and we think the majority of those who read the review of the Premier's "concrete achievements" abroad shared our disappointment. We expected to be told something about the railroad situation—when the Canadian Northern Pacific Company would square its creditors and make a serious effort to complete its branch lines on Vancouver Island. We hoped for some inkling from Sir Richard about that modern, first-class passenger and freight ferry system that was to connect Vancouver Island with English Bluff and some word of the handsome terminals the company was to establish on the Songhees Reserve. It is now well towards six years since the people of British Columbia returned Sir Richard and his party on the solemn assurance, duly embodied in a contract, that the whole system, frills and all, would be completed within four years. The Premier even went farther and beneath a speaking likeness on the front page of the morning glory declared that if those undertakings were not completed in scheduled time he would resign. Now, after an absence of three months in which he discussed the railroad situation in numerous centres, all he gives us is a repetition of time-honored glittering generalities about other matters. Of course we were disappointed.

We expected, too, something about the Pacific Great Eastern. What happened in New York? Why were negotiations interrupted by the Premier's sudden dash across the Atlantic? The sale of the company's bonds was the object of the trip, but not even a whispered explanation has been forthcoming. There is considerable interest in this matter because aid to that company is the rock upon which the cordial relations between the Premier and the Attorney-General split. The rock is still there. Apropos of this, we think the electorate should be told whether the threat of an election still hangs over them.

The Premier says an appeal will be held within the period constitutionally specified, but of course that means nothing. Last March when the legislature was dangled over a precipice—dissolved one day and recalled the next—we were informed by Sir Richard and his journalistic right bower that an election would be held as soon as the voters' lists had been arranged on the basis of the new redistribution. That must have been done long ago, but the public are still in the dark. On these and other matters we expected some enlightenment, and as it did not come of course we were disappointed.

The Colonist says disappointment was writ large over this page yesterday. Presumably the reference is to our comment upon the altogether unprofitable three months' tour of Sir Richard McBride. No one, with the exception of our contemporary—which has special reasons for magnifying every palpable failure of the premier—could extract much comfort from the columns it printed upon the travels and experiences of its shattered idol. Still, we may have wronged Sir Richard, and we are always eager to make amends in such a case. He did accomplish something, according to his own statement. He says he has secured one interned German ship to carry the lumber of the province to market. We hasten to give our premier credit for that remarkable feat, although when the expense bill of the trip is laid before the legislature the taxpayers of the province may find out that it cost no mean sum. On the average the premier's expenses for a trip to the Old Country run to about ten thousand dollars. The tour just concluded with a fanfare from the Colonist's trumpet was no ordinary run across to the British Isles. It was extensive both as to time and area. It covered dailings at expensive watering-places, summer resorts and visits to France. We venture the prediction that the public accounts committee of the legislature will not be given an opportunity to investigate the items of Sir Richard's bill should there be another session of the House as at present constituted.

A certificate of character from ex-Premier Roblin of Manitoba may not be of much value, circumstances considered, but in his testimony before the royal commission sitting at Winnipeg Sir Rodmond, after scornfully repudiating the idea that mercenary considerations influenced his resignation, said he had sat in the legislature for many years with Premier Norris and had never known him to do or to suggest a dishonorable thing. While politically opposed, they always had been personal friends. The evidence taken thus far seems to indicate that the late premier was a tool in the hands of Hon. "Bob" and the base political elements with which that suave but utterly unscrupulous manipulator boasts that he has won elections.

Sir Robert Borden, now on the ocean on his way to the Mother Country to look the situation over, is going to have a real holiday besides attending to such serious business as may be brought to his notice. Sir Robert was interviewed while in New York by several newspaper men, who profess to have tapped in him a keen sense of humor. He had his golf sticks with him, which fact, coupled with the other fact that he is released for a time from intimate association with Hon. "Bob" Rogers, may have stimulated his mind to cheerfulness. It might be profitable to both Sir Richard McBride and the province the Colonist insists he serves so faithfully and efficiently if he were to take up the ancient game of "golf."

Holt (or whatever his name may be), the sample Prussian, is dead. He committed suicide, as we expected he would. Chagrined over the failure of his campaign of frightfulness, his lacerated feelings, mental and physical, and the black prospect ahead of him, combined to prompt him to make a dive against the solid floor of his cell. The empire whose manifold activities he so faithfully exemplified will perish at its own hand as soon as it realizes that its murderous onslaught has failed, that it is irretrievably ruined, and that nothing but darkness is ahead of it.

Graft in any form is bad enough, but the graft which levies on goods intended for the relief of suffering soldiers is unspeakably vile. Those who are responsible for it are no better than the human vultures who have been known to pick the pockets of the dead and wounded on the battlefield. Surely the culprits are not going to get off with the mere restitution of the super-profit!

Answering several correspondents, we may say communications only are inserted which deal with matters of public interest and of public importance. We have no space to waste upon the discussion of trifivialities. Nor is it possible to reply in writing to correspondents who ask why their letters are not published. Short letters always are given preference.

Speaking of the restitution of excess profits made on government contracts, is it the intention of the federal authorities to enforce the principle in this province? What would the machine do if it had to return its rake-off? Aye, aye, what about Harry Price and the super-profit on coal for the dredges?

The death list in the United States on the fourth of July showed a considerable increase compared with last year, but at that it cuts no figure at all compared with the fireworks exploded by Germany for the delight and entertainment of her delectable Kaiser.

HOW, WHEN AND WHERE?

James Zolman, the advertising expert, recently made this interesting comment that answers an old, old question:

"Where, when and how much ought a retail dealer to advertise? The answer is simple:

He ought to advertise where he has a store. He ought to advertise when he is in a position to supply the demand eventually created by his advertising.

He ought to advertise as much as his business, stock of goods and margin of profit warrant." And the medium he should use?—DAILY NEWSPAPERS.—of course.

CREATED DISTURBANCE

But J. C. North Gets the Benefit of the Doubt, and Charge is Dismissed.

A great deal of time was taken up in police court to-day with the hearing of a charge laid against Joseph C. North, a well known "spicet," hotel runner and vocal advertising man of the city. The complaint was laid by Constable Roberts, of the traffic squad, and was that the defendant had created a disturbance on Belleville street on Sunday while intoxicated. R. C. Lowe defended.

Constable Roberts said the defendant was running to and fro and talking in a loud voice after the arrival of the Seattle steamer. He seemed to have a grievance about some complaint that he had been "working" the boat for Victoria hotels coming over, and was appealing to passengers as they got off for confirmation of his claim that he had not been doing so. He was in an excited state. Asked by counsel for the defence if the conduct of North had really constituted a disturbance the officer replied: "Undoubtedly. He creates more disturbance than anyone else over there."

For the defence there were called W. J. Gilliland, Mrs. North, John Emery, baggage man at the wharf and W. L. Bishton, all of whom testified on his behalf.

North went into the box in his own behalf, and proved a very voluble witness. He denied that he was disorderly.

The magistrate held that the defendant had been creating a disturbance but that there was an element of doubt, to the benefit of which he was entitled, as to his condition, and the charge was dismissed with a warning. His worship remarked that he had had to caution the defendant before.

North thanked the court as he was going out, whereupon his worship called him back and expressed the hope that he would not take his dismissal as a license for similar behavior in future.

BOXER IS CHARGED

Assault Case Against Cyclone Scott Dismissed in Police Court.

Under the name of C. Scott, appearing on the police court charge sheet this morning, and again when he gave the name of Bernard McHugh in the witness-box, no one would recognize Cyclone Scott, a local middleweight boxer, but of course there was no mistaking his appearance.

A charge of assault was laid against Scott by Theodore Naifonov, who keeps the clear stand at the Grand Central hotel. Naifonov's story was that Scott came to the stand yesterday morning and shook dice for some tobacco, and a dispute arose as to which had won. Scott, he testified, had called him foul names and had then struck him.

Two countrymen of the complainant corroborated his evidence, and all three denied that Naifonov had thrown a club at Scott as the latter was crossing the street after the assault.

Scott claimed that Naifonov had called him foul names first and had grabbed him by the collar before he struck back. A club was thrown at him as he crossed back to the Panama hotel, and was picked up by one of the witnesses.

Stephen J. Smith, a longshoreman, described the use of the club as if it was swung by Naifonov and Scott struck with it while it was still in the other's hand. Smith got very indignant about the incursion of foreigners into the city, and thought that Naifonov should have been put into confinement for an assault on Scott. He assured the court and the city prosecutor that they would likely be ousted from their positions some day by foreigners if some indefinite something was not done to keep out all aliens.

As Smith left the box he turned back with a friendly offer to shake hands with the magistrate, and insisted on climbing up on the bench to do so, to the great amusement of everyone in court.

His worship was of opinion that it was a case of language, and he thought that Scott, as a boxer, had an inclination to use his fists which should be repressed. On the whole evidence he dismissed the charge.

Was Not Attending Physician.—A news item in Monday's issue left the impression that Dr. Grant was the attending physician of the late Mrs. Kingzett, who died from an overdose of medicine. Dr. Grant states that he had never before attended the woman, and that he was only called in to certify to her death.

Woman's Voluntary Aid.—The adjourned meeting, to receive the report of the committee appointed to consider the relative advantages of a Women's Voluntary Aid detachment under "The Organization of Voluntary Aid in Canada," and a nursing division of the St. John Ambulance brigade overseas, will be held in the Alexandra Club committee room on Friday night, July 9, at 8 o'clock. All women holding St. John Ambulance association certificates (these only being eligible for membership in either organization) are cordially invited to attend.

Not Plying for Hire.—A charge of plying for hire was laid against Leroy Simmons, a livery driver, by Constable Desreux, was withdrawn in police court to-day when the circumstances had been explained. Simmons was in a car with a number of sailors on the evening of June 23. He had been seen by the constable in the clothes of one of the sailors with whom he had changed, and later he changed back into his own clothes. When asked why he was not wearing his badge Simmons pulled out of his pocket both his city and his provincial badge. He told the court that he was not plying for hire at the time but was giving some sailor friends a drive around the city. Under these circumstances, of course, it was not necessary to wear the badge.

The pretty home of Mr. and Mrs. Gideon Hicks, Trutch street, was filled with music last evening, the occasion being a farewell party in honor of James Tretheway, the talented violinist who has contributed so much to the musical life of the city since his arrival here about two years ago. The entertainment last evening, which was followed by a dainty supper, consisted of a very fine programme of vocal, pianoforte and violin selections by the host and hostess, Mrs. Tretheway, and the special friends invited for the occasion, the latter including Mrs. Gertrude Huntley-Green, Mrs. Baird, Miss Eva Hart, and Messrs. The bride was attired in cream cashmere, with veil and orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of lilacs of the valley and white roses. She was given away by her brother, Sidney Kershaw. Her sister, Miss Nellie Kershaw, was bridesmaid, while Curtis Watson supported the bridegroom. Little Grace Kershaw and Phyllis Woodward made very pretty flower girls. There was a reception afterwards at the future home of the newly married couple, "Buckin Vista," Ross Bay, and Mr. and Mrs. Woodward left by the midnight boat for Vancouver, for a trip which will include Seattle, Tacoma and Portland.

JUNE.

New York World.

Through Europe's war-swept spaces, walking with tarnished shoon, O'er silent, upturned faces, There comes a saddened June.

No little white flowers meet her; Only the vivid red And scarlet blossoms greet her, That root where men have bled.

The lips that whispered trifles To welcome her are dumb; She hears the voice of rifles, The rattles of the drum.

From where the sweet wild grasses Once grew, there comes the smell Of heavy, acid gases, Like fumes escaped from hell.

She sees the ocean folding Upon its bosom deep, Many a mother holding A child in endless sleep.

And women who fell screaming Before the blood-mad clans, To find, in their long dreaming, Earth's heart more soft than man's.

She hears the cannon's thunder; She hears the labored breath Of boys who gaze in wonder Upon the face of death.

She sees the torn oblations That human folly flings On altars of its nations To feed the pride of kings.

Through Europe's war-swept spaces, walking with tarnished shoon, O'er silent, upturned faces, There comes a saddened June.

No little white flowers meet her; Only the vivid red And scarlet blossoms greet her, That root where men have bled.

A NOVEL CONTEST.

A wood-sawing contest for women is to be the added attraction at the Columbia theatre to-night and a lot of wholesome fun is anticipated. A number of ladies have already left their names with the management, so that there will be no lack of contestants. Three cash prizes will be awarded at each performance to the winners of the contest. The pictures at the Columbia this week are among the best ever seen here. "The Goose Girl," with pretty little Marguerite Clark in the leading role, is the famous Player feature attraction and is drawing crowded houses. Commencing to-morrow "Jim The Penman," Sir Charles L. Young's successful drama will be presented featuring John Mason, who makes his initial screen appearance in this production.

Rankin—"Have you ever been to the Trossachs?" Phyll—"Yes; but I want to go again some day and see the scenery. The first time I went I was on my honeymoon."
"What's become of that pretty young actress I saw last year?" "She's starting!" "And the young fellow who seemed to be so devoted to her?" "He's still mooning."

Dauber—"I notice that you don't like my pictures, sir; but I can only paint things as I see them." Critic—"Then you shouldn't paint while you're seeing things like that."

"Would you die for me?" she asked, sentimentally. "Now, look here," he returned, in his matter-of-fact way, "were we supposed to be planning a funeral or a wedding?"

No indulgence of passion destroys the spiritual nature so much as respectable selfishness.—George MacDonald.

The premier has been invited to attend by the club president, Frank Higgins, as the occasion will be the first of a proposed series of Imperial Unity luncheons of the Rotary club. It is understood that following the luncheon the premier will make an address.

R. E. Gosnell, private secretary to the premier, is down as the main speaker for the luncheon, and his subject is to be "Imperial Unity." Mr. Gosnell has given much thought to this subject, and is a thoughtful and entertaining writer and speaker. Members of the club anticipate a very enjoyable luncheon.

The eighty-fourth luncheon is to be held on Tuesday, instead of Thursday next week, and the speaker will be Frank Mulholland, the international president of Rotary.

THISTLES.

To the Editor:—In to-day's Colonist I noticed a welcome paragraph to the effect that the city is waging war against the thistle. It will have to be pushed very quickly and thoroughly if they want to get ahead of this nuisance in many parts of Fairfield district, for instance, where the various unmade roads and vacant lots are crammed with them, many already being in the flower stage.

LAND PROBLEMS.

To the Editor:—I have had my attention drawn to a letter in the Times by Mr. Farnell, of Rocky Point, asking for instructions re a shipload of Chinamen for the canneries. I fear I cannot help him out, though I thank him for the honor he confers by consulting me. Would a submarine be any use? The rest of his letter is as "dry and arid" as the localities he describes. Whilst awaiting a solution of the Chinese problem I suggest he buy a standard work on Metallurgy, also a rock hammer, and get busy chipping these rocky rocks around Rocky Point. One never knows, and copper's going up.

Impression of Warfare on Classic Ground

London Chronicle Correspondence.

This war, with all its stupendous episodes, can have presented to the eye of an onlooker few more stupendous and fascinating pictures than that vision which I have been privileged to have every day of late from a mountain-top on the island of Imbros. To have a bird's-eye view of great and important military and naval operations combined under modern conditions is a new experience for the war correspondent; the working together of an army and a fleet of such dimensions as those employed in the battering down of Turkey's last defences will stand out as a unique feature of a world-wide struggle.

Imagine the picture. From my point of view, a great part of the Gallipoli Peninsula, just that section over which the operations range, lies spread out before me like a giant relief map. In front stretches the radiant "wine-red sea" of which Homer sang, a glorious ocean, dotted with rocky islands, which appear to be steeped generally in a marvellous purple haze. Down upon these shining waters look the gaunt, yellow, rough-hewn heights, clothed but irregularly in green, of the Gallipoli Peninsula.

It is a rugged, grim, unlovely land, lonely looking. Mountain and rock, river and valley make it a region as well fitted for defence as for attack. Northwest Indian frontier. Gaunt cliffs face the sea; huge precipices are cut out of the yellow sandstone of the mountain sides; sandy ridges run in all directions. But this forbidding land has a curious moment of picturesqueness in its day.

The Peninsula Landscape.

That is when the rays of the western sun drive away its monotone and light up its features strangely, almost into beauty; when the still, thin, curiously-stirred clouds of late afternoon flame with all the gorgeous coloring which has made the Mediterranean and its sister, the Aegean, so famous for evening beauty. The yellow precipices of the peninsula are brilliantly gilded; the texture of its rugged spaces is made clear, and they stand out boldly against the freshened green of trees and herbage. Its pathetic little villages glitter brightly for a little—then the windows and white walls almost like so many heliographs—before the quick-advancing shadows of the peaks of far-off islands curtain them.

But it is only for a few minutes that the peninsula lies so beautifully clear against the piled-up dark background of the mountains of Asia Minor, its heights toned down to dark grey by the haze of distance and of battle. In between the brightness of the peninsula landscape and the dulness of the classic mountains, which saw Troy's warfare, is threaded the famous waterway, the Dardanelles, now in sight, a ribbon of deepest blue, now hidden behind those ridges of doom and victory.

Such is the landscape in this particular region of our world-war. But one scarcely notices its evening beauty or takes any interest in its features as a landscape. There is a fleet and an army in the picture. The bright light before the sunset is utilized to pick out the positions and moves in a fierce struggle against the desperate remnant of a fated empire. Right round the most southern part of the peninsula, up the straits, and down the Asiatic coast, warships are spouting forth fire and smoke, battering thunderously away at the land with great and deadly shells. The landscape is disfigured with hugh pillars of dust and fumes—the tremendous devastation caused where the shells strike.

High overhead aeroplanes skim noisily; a baby dirigible, directing the warships' fire, makes a splash of gold against the light blue of the sunny sky. On the sea submarines leave a thin thread of white; torpedo boats dash along in all directions—how they must enjoy "the game"—at high speed. Transports, ships of hope, and hospital ships, with their load of suffering, come and go. At times the blue of ocean is disturbed by tall, white pillars; these mark the spot where the enemy's shells fall into the sea. Answering guns flare and smoke.

Beyond the sea the land battle-area is strangely fascinating. Tiny clouds, born in a flash of orange light, are sprinkled about in the upper air, from them the deadly shrapnel has rained fiercely down. Faint tracks, which are to be seen and occasionally a cloud of dust can be observed moving along one of them. That denotes the flight or the advance of artillery. A battleship notices—the movement, and, if the guns belong to the enemy, it spits death from miles away into that dust-cloud.

A Battle Scene.

Within a minute of time column after column of whitish smoke, drifted with earth, springs up round the spot. The battery is brought to a halt and its retreat is cut off. For a few minutes the thick smoke-clouds obscure everything; under them a tragedy is quickly played out; one can imagine the wreckage and death-horror lying hidden there. Then the smoke clears away. There is no sign of movement; the enemy has one mobile battery less.

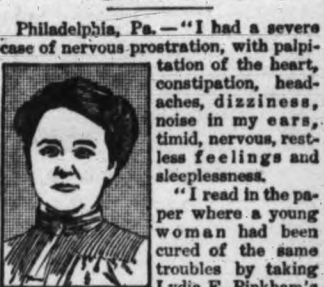

Yonder lies a thin, scarcely discernible white line; it is where the infantry lies entrenched, battling hard, the assailing shell screaming loudly overhead. The faint rattle of their musketry and their machine guns is just heard across the waters.

Such is the impression to be obtained from Imbros, where, in the station warfare on the peninsula where the men of four continents are deciding the fate of an empire. Day after day the struggle goes on with varying vigor; the darkness is luridly illuminated by the searchlights' great white fingers and by the flaming of scores of guns. Sometimes whole valleys become like rivers of fire, so fierce is the land cannonade. The air of the huge night trembles and the very earth at times seems to shake and reel.

But it is when one directs one's gaze farther south, to the mountainous region lying beyond the entrance to the

TWO NERVOUS WOMEN

Made Well By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I had a severe case of nervous prostration, with palpitation of the heart, constipation, headaches, dizziness, noise in my ears, timid, nervous, restless feelings and sleeplessness. "I read in the paper where a young woman had been cured of the same troubles by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound so I threw away the medicines the doctor left me and began taking the Compound. Before I had taken half a bottle I was able to sit up and in a short time I was able to do all my work. Your medicine has proved itself able to do all you say it will and I have recommended it in every household I have visited."—Mrs. MARY JOHNSTON, 210 Siegel Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Another Bad Case.

Ephrata, Pa.—"About a year ago I was down with nervous prostration. I was pale and weak and would have hysterical spells, sick headaches and a bad pain under my shoulder-blade. I was under the care of different doctors but did not improve. I was so weak I could hardly stand long enough to my dishes. "Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made me well and happy and I have begun to gain in weight and my face looks healthy now."—Mrs. J. W. HORNBERGER, R. No. 3, Ephrata, Pa.

Dardanelles, that the struggle takes on an added interest, and a peculiar fascination. For that part of the great battle-rocked region is perhaps the most interesting classic ground in the world. It is strange, indeed, to watch what is being done at that particular spot to look.

"Out across Tremendous blue towards the very hill Which once was Troy's."

and to think that, where Hector and Achilles fought, what extraordinarily different warfare is now being waged. One afternoon, as I watched looking at the rugged headlands not far from Yeni Shehr, the Sigeum of those dim days of a romantic past, I could see the ground around the spot where tradition has it—and in these days of such grim reality how believable tradition is!—the dust of Achilles lies being churned up by the guns of a warship bearing the name of that fighter's ally—Agamemnon! The ship was standing off Erenkeui Bay, hammering away at those very rocks which heard the tumult of the warfare waged by Hector and Achilles, and upon which the fair Helen looked down. There, right in front of its blazing guns and darkened by their smoke, is the low coastline near which once in that epic age rode the thousand proud ships of Greece bringing Agamemnon himself.

Beyond the Yeni Shehr ridge, where village and tomb have their sites, and within view of our sailors on their ships, lies the famous Plain of Troy. Through it flows the Scamander river of old, in present days the Mendere. On the right flows the Simois river, its branches crisscrossing lazily round Hisarlik Hill, where stand Troy's ruins, city piled on city. In those classic times the Simois poured its waters with those of the Scamander, but, like the Nile, time has seen it change its channel, and now it rolls separately and slowly into Erenkeui Bay's wide stretch of waters.

Mobile Turkish Batteries. Often the Turks race their mobile batteries down the road running by the Mendere river, and, under cover of dark or mist, endeavor to get within range of the ships near the entrance to the straits. But the ships are keen and "many-eyed," and soon Troy's Plain is pillared with shell-bursts, taller and more fantastic forms than ever her bold builders reared or dreamed of. The silence of centuries fallen over that ancient battlefield of the Iliad is broken at last, and broken so strangely and so terribly. Sacred Ilium is searched and scorched by shells and shrapnel, and the thunder of it rolls rumblingly back to one's ears, echoed from the ruined, crumbling walls of Ilion! The Scamander must tremble with the trembling air, as horses and men and guns are wiped out with the hideous shock of raining shells.

I should like to have had my Homer in hand while the ships make history, more near by Dardanian Troy, have read the legend of old in full, and of the grim reality of to-day. But one thought rises above all others: one watches the glorious ships at work, dimly describes the trenches where hot battle is being bravely waged. It is that out there deeds of heroism are every moment being performed which far outshine those of Trojan and Achaean, and which will make one day a more stirring and inspiring epic than the Iliad. There something more than what Hector and Achilles waged war for is at stake. The freedom for which men have striven all down the ages is once more the prize to be won in this later day.

Behind those lines of war lies a doomed empire which, since it reached to the gates of Vienna, has achieved no progress, stood for no liberty, represented nothing great in art or letters, in government or ideals. Three years ago I heard from within damn threatening at the very gates of its capital, threaten and go again. Now it will threaten and with certainty close the long, costly and ghastly score.

So the struggle goes on, ever bringing the end nearer, hastening the day when it will be said that "Only legend proves: "Once in the lands of Hellas Turkey was."

"A Most Valuable Food"

At a time when the preparation of artificial foodstuffs is receiving more attention than ever before, and when new forms of easily assimilable fat to take the place of cod liver oil are being frequently brought to the notice of the medical profession, it is desirable that some of the older forms of administering natural fats should not be lost sight of.
Among natural fats, butter is the first place for nutritive value and when combined with a suitable soluble carbohydrate, a most valuable food is produced.

THE BUTTER SCOTCH which Messrs
Callard & Power (Duke's Road, Buxton Road, W. C.) have prepared for fifty years is such an article, which has the great advantage of being palatable, as palatable in fact, that children are more likely to need restraining from eating than any persimmon to take it. This BUTTER SCOTCH contains 72 per cent of fat and 28 per cent of sugar, and the results of an analysis which we have made consists of a specimen substantially confirm these figures;
further chemical examination of the fat extracted showed it to be genuine butter fat. This combination can therefore be recommended not only as a harmless sweetener, but also as a very useful addition to the diet in suitable cases.

"RIFLE SHIP" BEING RELIEVED OF CARGO

Customs Authorities Taking Over Munitions of War Carried by Annie Larsen

Seattle, Wash., July 7.—To be held pending the decision of the government as to its final disposition of the cargo of the schooner Annie Larsen, the mysterious "rifle ship" seized at Hoquiam by customs authorities a week ago to-day, is being removed from the vessel and stored in a government warehouse, according to advice received by Collector of Customs F. C. Harper from R. L. Sebastian, deputy collector, at Hoquiam.

With the escape of Walter Page, super-cargo, who was on board the Annie Larsen as agent of the owners of the cargo, government officials declare that all obstacles which hitherto prevented the unloading of the cargo have been removed. Since no charge is ready to be placed against him government officers are making no attempt to bring about the capture of Page.

Olsen & Mahoney, of San Francisco, owners of the schooner, have not communicated with the customs authorities since the Annie Larsen and her cargo was seized.

SEATTLE HALIBUT MARKET HAS AN EXCITING SESSION

Seattle, Wash., July 7.—The arrival of four halibut schooners from the banks with a total catch of 185,000 pounds of fish yesterday was responsible for a rather exciting session of the halibut exchange in Pier 8. Bidding by the buyers was decidedly spirited. Shortly before noon the schooner Thekla sold her catch of 50,000 pounds of halibut for 74 cents a pound plus a bonus of $10. She also brought 7,000 pounds of black cod, for which she was offered 24 cents a pound.

Bidding at the noon hour for the catches of the three other halibut vessels was so spirited that the session continued into the luncheon hour. The vessels are the Alaska, with 54,000 pounds of fish; Kodiak, 55,000 pounds, and Albatross, 35,000 pounds. Offers for the catches range from 74 cents a pound, plus a bonus of $75, to 7½ cents a pound plus a bonus of $25.

PHILADELPHIA HAS HAD GREAT CAREER

Liner Threatened to Be Blown Up Was Once Greyhound of Atlantic

People familiar with the history of the American liner Philadelphia read with considerable interest the bulletin displayed by the Times this morning, relative to a statement made by Holt, the would-be assassin of J. P.
Morgan, that the ship was to be blown up to-day along with the Saxonia, of the Cunard line. The Philadelphia is an old-time Atlantic liner, and has carried hundreds of thousands of passengers between New York and Southampton. Her career has been one of unusual interest.

The Philadelphia was built in 1889 for the Inman Line, and at that time was known as the City of Paris. She had three stacks and was one of the fastest vessels afloat at that time, and gained the much-coveted title of "the ocean greyhound." The arrangement of her interior and the elaborateness of her cabins and rooms at that time called for unstinted praise. For several years the Paris held the blue ribbon for the fastest passage across the Atlantic.

Under U. S. Registry.

With her sister-ship the City of New York she was sold to American interests and dropped the prefix City. At the time of the Spanish-American war they were taken into the navy and under the names of Harvard and Yale, rendered good service as auxiliary cruisers. At the termination of the war the Paris again went into the New York-Southampton service.

In May, 1899, she went ashore near the Manaoles, and after remaining there for some months she was floated and taken into Milford, and thence to Belfast, where she was practically rebuilt by Messrs. Harland & Wolff. In the rebuilding the ship was made a twin-stacker and renamed the Philadelphia.

YEAR'S EARNINGS TO EQUAL ORIGINAL COST

Steamship Colusa Will Net Owners $243,000 on Trip to Australia; Names Prices

According to advices from Portland, Ore., the steamship Colusa, one of the vessels operated by W. R. Grace & Co.
out of Puget Sound and other North Pacific ports, will probably net the company $243,000 on her present voyage from the Columbia river to Australia with wheat. She was chartered at private terms for the voyage, but Portland reports it has leaked out that she will earn $2,500 a day on the round trip without considering back haul.

The round voyage will require approximately ninety days. As the Grace liners rarely return empty, shipping circles believe that the $2,000 figure will be increased 50 per cent by the cargo that the company will obtain for the voyage back to the Coast. According to shipping circles, it costs $300 a day to operate the steamship. With a round trip of ninety days, the vessel will net her owners $243,000 on that basis.

On her last voyage from San Francisco to Australia to Boston to San Francisco, the Colusa is said to have netted the company $150,000. She cost the Grace line $600,000 to build, and from the present outlook shipping circles believe that her earnings this year will equal her cost of construction.

Coffey Deserves Bout With Willard

New York, July 7.—When Champion Jess Willard decides to enter the ring some six months or possibly a year hence, who will be his logical opponent? Only time will answer that question, for boxing form is so unstable it is impossible to see very far in the future.

One thing is certain. He must be an exceptionally big man or he will not carry the confidence of the public. The champion invariably sets the fashion in this respect, so only the giants of the ring will be considered seriously as long as Willard leads the procession.

This seems to eliminate Georges Carpentier, the clever Frenchman, who undoubtedly ranked next to Willard among white heavyweights up to the opening of the war. It appears not improbable now that by the time Willard is ready for action Carpentier will be free to challenge, unless some stray bullet puts an end to his career in the meantime. Whether he will care to try his luck against the gigantic Willard remains to be seen. Carpentier refereed the Moran-Johnson fight, and at that time stated that he was hardly big enough to tackle the negro. He will have even more reason to fear the present champion if he allows mere size to daunt him.

Carpenter weighed under 180 pounds when he took the measure of Gumbert Smith in London last year. To match him with Willard would be like pairing a featherweight with a middleweight. However, as far as can be learned, the young Frenchman leads all the contenders in skill and speed. These qualities should make him a very dangerous rival for the others who would dispute Willard's title. Beyond a doubt Carpentier's first move after the war ends will be to sail for America in order to take advantage of the big purses on this side of the world. It will then be possible to get a real line on him.

Recent developments indicate that Jim Coffey will have the inside track with the promoters when the time comes to select an opponent for Willard. Coffey is one of the few men in the 200-pound class who have both speed and skill. Even Coffey, as big as he is, will be at a tremendous disadvantage when he faces the champion, but he is the most promising man in sight at present.

Coffey still has a long way to go before he can be picked to beat Willard. But he has this in his favor: Of all the heavies developed since the downfall of Jeffries he has shown the most rapid improvement. As a beginner the Irishman was so raw it seemed impossible for him to become even a fair second rate. But he was equipped with an exceptionally fine physique to start with, and every bout has added something to his knowledge of the game. This improvement has now extended over a period of more than three years, and still there are no signs of its ending. It is not unlikely that by a year from now he will have polished up the few remaining rough spots. In that case he will find no trouble in locating a promoter willing to put up whatever purse Willard demands.

Con. Jones Decides He Has Had Enough. Vancouver's attempt to lift the Minto Cup has collapsed, for this year at least, with the announcement that Con. Jones will not longer be the angel for the Terminal City imports. Jones has lost something like twenty-three hundred dollars in the month and a half that the pro league has been running, his gate receipts being barely sufficient to pay the running expenses of the team. The result of his refusal to guarantee further salaries means that the Vancouver Club cannot continue. Billy Fitzgerald, Red Donahoe and George Roberts will leave for their Eastern homes, and the Minto Cup will rest for another year on the banks of the Fraser.

Southpaws Have Something on Leafs. It is hard to see how a club with only three left-handed batters should succumb so easily to port side hurling, but a glimpse over the past records of the Leafs will show that they have invariably been beaten by southpaws. Mails defeated them on Monday, and this is the fourth time this year that he has turned the trick. Kaylor can hit southpaws pretty well, while Bill Reid and Homer Haworth each got a hit on Monday, so that the left-handed hitters held up their end of the argument against Mails. The latter had slugged like Butler, Kelly and Menges buffeted, for there were several times when a hit meant runs, when the right-handed batters fanned or grounded out.

Another Elimination Match for Coffey. It would appear as if Coffey is particularly anxious to place all kinds of obstacles in the path of Jim Coffey, the Dublin giant. When the latter met Flynn it was understood that if he won he would immediately get a match with Willard for the world's title. Coffey won, but now he is confronted with another opponent in the person of Frank Moran. To secure a match with Willard he must now beat the Pittsburgh heavyweight. As Coffey has never lost a bout in his ring career and is no doubt a dangerous man, you can hardly blame Coffey for taking chances, but at the same time the Irishman is entitled to more consideration.

Hockey Changes in the East. Toronto men are about to purchase the N. H. A. franchise of the Toronto Hockey Club from Frank Robinson of Montreal. Shamrocks have secured Harry Cameron and another player from Toronto in exchange for Howard and George McNamara, and Macdonald.

COSTLY CLUB HOUSE. Plans for a new clubhouse for the Chicago Athletic Association, one of the largest organizations of its kind in the world, and the middle west rival of the New York A. C. of this city. If erected the building will be eighteen stories high, and will occupy the present site of the club, near Madison street and Michigan avenue, Chicago. The building plan was originated by Francis S. Peabody, president of the club, who wants the clubhouse to be one of the finest in Canada.

CANUCK WON MARATHON. Boston, July 7.—Edouard Fabre, of Montreal, yesterday returned to the scene of his American marathon victory three months ago and won easily from a fast field in a twelve-mile race. His time was 67 minutes, 7 seconds.

AMATEURS ONCE MORE IN CALCIUM MORE TROUBLE OVER THE MANN CUP

Victoria to Play at Vancouver on July 17; Young Torontos Enter Challenge

Amateur lacrosse will be the whole tip on the coast for the balance of the season, now that Con. Jones has announced his withdrawal from the game. This means that the battles for the Mann cup will be revived in earnest, and one can look for bumper crowds at the amateur contests for the remainder of the season. Victoria play at Vancouver on July 17, and Coach Springer announces that he will have the strongest team available in uniform for this game. A win for the local twelve will place them in a nice position to grab off the premier lacrosse honors of the world, and it is with the Mann cup in view that the Victoria squad is plugging so hard to get in shape for this crucial contest. A victory away from home will wipe out the stain of the defeat here on Victoria Day at the hands of New Westminster.

Joe Lally's Mann-cup troubles are by no means over. The Young Torontos definitely decided to go after the trophy, and will forward a challenge to the Cornwall trustees. This is the same course followed by Brampton a year ago, and it is likely to force the A. A. U. of Canada to show its hand. Mr. Lally will, of course, order Young Torontos to play Chinooks of Calgary.

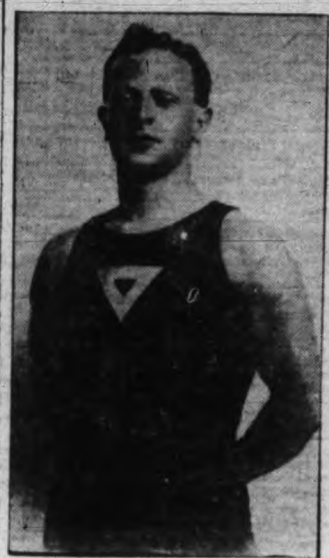

The A. A. U., or rather its lacrosse representative, the D. L. A., of which Fred Wagborne, of Toronto, is now secretary, still persists that Vancouver are the legitimate holders of the trophy. Thus the same old dispute that waged last season is likely to be repeated.

Of course, there is always the possibility that Vancouver will decide that the trustees of the championship emblem should have the cup returned to them, though this is a very remote contingency. Meanwhile, Chinooks, of Calgary, are having their troubles, though it would not be surprising if out of the recent row rose a stronger team than ever before represented Calgary.

As before reported many of the original Chinook players have gone over to the newly-organized Calgary Lacrosse club, and the quarrel between the two seems to have been just what was needed to restore interest in the sport. Players who have not been out since the Indians invented the game are favoring about the fields of the rival clubs each night, and the younger men are coming out in increased numbers.

Joe Lally, the Cornwall booster, has succeeded in getting the soldiers in camp at Cornwall interested in lacrosse. In writing to the Tecumseh Lacrosse club, he says: "Fully one hundred and fifty of the soldiers under Major Cameron and Capt. Leslie and McNaughton are playing lacrosse daily, and the officers consider it a fine way to get the men in condition for the front."

V. I. A. A. TO CLOSE UP FOR THE WAR

New Material Will Have to Be Developed to Take Place of Volunteers

Billy Davies announces that the Vancouver Island A. A. A. will close for the summer months, with the possibility that the club will not operate again until after the war. The V. I. A. A. have been drawing very good crowds to their boxing tournaments, but the heavy expenses of keeping the club rooms open have necessitated the closing of the training quarters. It will be necessary for instructor Davies to develop a new squad of boxers, as his present stars have been pretty well distributed because of the war. Scott McKay went away with the 4th Battalion, as did Jack Ross, while Scott Cropper will leave shortly to make munitions in England. Al Davies also expects to go to the old country, while one of the James boys is now in Wales, where he has joined a Welsh regiment.

There are a few coming youngsters in the capital, boys who will reach a high mark in the amateur game, and it is expected that when the club again starts the new faces will attract larger crowds to the bouts.

"Bombardier" Wells, British heavyweight champion, started fighting for the biggest international fight of his career. It isn't Jess Willard. He's going to fight the Germans. "Bombardier" emerged from a London military tailor shop yesterday to begin his smart-fitting khaki suit. On his shoulder was the insignia of his regiment, but there were no stripes on his arm, as he's a common, ordinary private in the Welsh Brigade. Beginning to-day in one of the big training camps near from London, he will start digging trenches and getting his "gun eye."

Rochester, N. Y., July 5.—Jess Willard, world's heavyweight champion, places a valuation of $100,000 on the two arms that have won him the title at Havana. He made application to a Rochester insurance agent for a one-year policy in that sum, $50,000 for each arm. He also applied for an accident travelling insurance policy for a smaller sum in favor of his wife. He was in Rochester with a circus.

The decision of D. J. Tortorich, the New Orleans promoter, to join hands with Tommy Burns, the ex-heavyweight champion, will no doubt mean a boost for the game in the Crescent City. Last fall Burns entered the boxing game in New Orleans after Tom McCarty, the Los Angeles promoter, decided to give up the idea of locating there and the champion stuck to his last. Then began a race for matches between the man who really has kept the boxing game in New Orleans for the past ten years and the newcomer. It promised to prove disastrous to both.

NO CONFLICTS IN MOTOR MEETS NOW ASSOCIATION FORMED

The Speedway Association of America recently formed to control auto-racing on the speedways of seven cities throughout the country marks a new era in automobile racing. The association, which is broadly defined as a gentlemen's agreement among the promoters to avoid conflict of dates, excess bidding for entries and other features where co-operation is more effective than strife, includes speedways at Indianapolis, Chicago, New York, Omaha, St. Louis, Minneapolis, and Tacoma.

The organization as composed of present represents seven speedways, with a total seating capacity of close to 400,000 and 15 miles of track. More than one-fourth of a million dollars is to be offered in purses during the year, and the list of events arranged upon a non-conflicting basis so far as possible. Indianapolis and Minneapolis have the largest courses, both being two and a half miles to the lap. The other cities

KELLY AND BONNER STAR AT SEATTLE

Victoria Hurler Chalks Up His Sixth Straight Win at Expense of Giants

Geo. Kelly's long distance clouts and the superior heaving of Al. Bonner were the features of the Victoria win yesterday at Seattle, the Giants being beaten 4 to 2. It was the sixth straight win for Bonner and the second in three days, the big right-hander simply mowing down the Seattle clouters, and holding them to seven widely scattered singles. Kelly and Menges also had a couple of hits apiece, the Leafs hammering McIvor hard in the pinches. Seattle made a quartette of costly boots in addition, so that they made Bonner's task all the easier.

The fielding of the Leafs saved Bonner several times, Hoffman handling a bunch of chances at second. Seattle has fired Bill Abstein, their big first baseman and Charlie Brooks is holding down the initial sack for the Giants. Hanson and Eastley are the pitching selections for to-day.

Spokane, July 7.—Spokane defeated Vancouver yesterday by a score of 19 to 5. McQuarry was easy and the Indians hammered his offerings for 17 hits and 18 runs. Bob Brown went in to pitch in the sixth and allowed only one run the rest of the game. Noyes was hit hard by Vancouver and only good fielding kept the visitors' runs down.

PLAYGROUND TEAMS ORGANIZE LEAGUE

Beacon Hill Club Cinch Title by Holding Victorias to a Draw

Instructor Beall, of the Civic Playgrounds, announced last night that plans have been mapped out for the organization of four baseball leagues, amongst the youngsters of the Capital. The divisions will include the Junior league for boys under 15 years of age; Midget league, under 12 years of age; Bantam league, under 14 years; Wasp league, under 12 years. Entries must be made on the regulation forms, and these may be secured from Mr. Beall at either the North Ward or Beacon Hill playgrounds. Entries will close Friday night, and the clubs are limited to ten registered players each. Ages must be certified as correct, and any false registrations will mean the expulsion. The schedules will start next week, and the league will endeavor to uphold the standard of clean speech, clean sport and good general conduct.

Beacon Hill are the undisputed champions of the Intermediate league, following their draw game with the Victorias last evening at the Hill, the final score being 4 all. The teams scored all their runs in the early stages of the game. The Hills broke into the run column first, but the Vics came back strong in the fourth inning, scoring four runs. It looked like a certain victory for the visitors, but the Hills came back in the fifth with two tallies, equalizing the count.

Paul Slater, with the exception of the fourth inning, pitched a good game, passing but few men while he whiffed sixteen batters. Parritt, the opposing slusher, was also tight, and struck out twelve batters, the majority of these strikeouts coming with men on the paths. To change the league stippling, it was necessary for the Vics to win last night's game. Poor umpiring spoiled the contest.

On Monday evening the Athletic Midget team took a fall out of the North Ward Midget league champions by the score of 7 to 5. McFadden twirled for the victors, while Moore did mound duty for the Wards.

The Spirit of Youth

As Exemplified by Fit-Reform Summer Suits

When we speak of Suits for Young Men, we are thinking of Clothes of an entirely different cut from those conservative models or even our "men's fashionable styles."

Two things make the difference:

Our Young Men's Clothes have a different snap and style; they have the little knick-knacks of novelty in perfect taste; and secondly—

They are slimmer, snugger, trimmer, than the middle-age fullness of form could wear.

They reflect the joy and spirit of youth, in a way that is particularly youthful.

The prices are youthful, too—$15, $18, $20 and $22.

KELLY GOES TO THE NEW YORK GIANTS LEAGUE GETS GOOD PRICE FOR YOUTH

Kinsella Enthusiastic Over the Work of Victoria Stars; Northwestern Leaguers Star in Independent Baseball Up North

It is understood on the best of authority that Dick Kinsella, the New York Giant scout, has practically closed with the Northwestern league, for the purchase of Geo. Kelly, the Victoria first sacker. The price is understood to be in the neighborhood of three thousand dollars, and Kelly will join the National League club after the Northwestern League season has closed. This is Kelly's second year in professional baseball, and he has yet to cast his first vote, being nineteen years of age.

Ball players who are let out by the Northwestern league clubs are not finding the pickings so easy as in previous years. The financial stringency has made it necessary for the Class B clubs to cut down to the very bone, and the suspension of the Western Canada league last year cuts off a home for some of the old timers who had pensions in that league. Ben Hunt, one of the league's leading porters last year, is now twirling for Prince Rupert, while Ketchikan has Frank Wally, another cast-off Tiger, as a battery. Boeckel, the former Tacoma second sacker, is also up north, and Herb Salveson, whom Victoria tried to secure, is now playing independent ball in Montana.

Muggsy McGraw must be getting ready to cut loose from his veterans when he gives Red Murray his unconditional release. McGraw offered to trade Infielder Brinard and Catcher Meyers to Cincinnati for Catcher Ivy Wingo, but the Reds refused the trade. Meyers is about through as a big league backstop, while a few of McGraw's other standbys will also have to hustle for new jobs next season.

In retrenching all along the line, Connie Mack is doing this year what every club in the major leagues will be doing next season," said a western club owner the other day.

"The wise Mack," he continued, "is, as usual a year ahead of everybody else. It took a lot of grit for him to do what he has done, but like all men who do big things and accomplish great results, Connie has lots of courage."

"Mack saw the handwriting on the wall and went ahead and governed himself accordingly. Philadelphia fans will profit by his foresight, for in reorganization plans Mack has had a year's start on everybody else."

"Anyway, you can't keep a wonder like Mack down, for there is nobody in his class in digging up young players. No temperamental star can hold any club over Mack's head, for he is too resourceful in getting successors. That's where he has it on the average tactician."

GOLF TOURNAMENTS HAVE BEEN CANCELLED BECAUSE OF THE WAR

Ottawa, July 8.—Announcement was made last evening that the Royal Canadian Golf association has cancelled the open and professional championships, which were to have been held in the capital next month. Consequently there will not be any golf tournaments of importance in Canada this year.

Early in the spring it was decided not to hold the Canadian amateur championship meeting. Owing to the war and the fact that many of the leading golfers had gone to fight for the empire, it was considered best that the amateur tournament should be called off. It was then decided that the open and professional championships should take place, as many of the professionals were anxious to have their annual competitions, and several well known amateur golfers expressed their intention of coming over to take part in the medal rounds for the open championships.

MELVILLE HOCKEYISTS AT THE FRONT. Winnipeg, July 7.—Melville seems likely to achieve almost as much prominence through the war as she achieved through the hockey team which represented the Grand Trunk Pacific town. No wonder the team

Lucky Jim Exception and International Held Strongly

Lucky Jim Zinc scored an advance and International Gold held firmly following yesterday's strength. Prices for the most part showed a weaker aspect, recessions often being of a positive character. Outside markets had nervous action, and issues listed both here and on eastern exchanges were obliged to absorb some pronounced selling. This accounted for the decline in Granby, which under the circumstances had commendable action.

The position is one of watchful waiting.

WEATHER CONDITIONS FOR WHEAT CHANGE ADVERSELY

(By F. W. Stevenson & Co.)

Chicago, July 7.—Higher cables and changed weather conditions throughout the grain belt forced the incentive for buying of wheat at the opening. There was considerable unravelling of spreads by those who were long July and short September. The market was somewhat dull after the first hour's trading, and there was no disposition shown by leading shorts to press their advantage. Until more is known definitely regarding the damage to the new crop, sentiment probably will remain mixed. Corn market held strong. Those who made side trips into the country over the holidays apparently were impressed by the backward condition of the growing crop, and some of this class of buying was in evidence. Perfect weather from now on is imperative to insure even an average crop.

RECONSIDER PROPOSAL ABOUT WATERWORKS

Saanich Paving Force Will Be Doubled at the Week-End

Discussion took place last evening at the meeting of the Saanich council with regard to the agreement between the city and Saanich for the use of water services in the municipality now owned by the city. This agreement was adopted by the city council on Monday evening.

The council decided that the agreement needed modification to correspond with that of last fall for transfer of mains, and therefore the report was laid on the table till the subject has been taken up with the city water commissioner again.

With regard to the grading of Quadra street and Saanich road, the engineer reported that the grading of these roads is now under way, and within the next two weeks he expected to have a considerable section of road completely graded and ready for paving operations. At the present time there were 35 men employed on Quadra street by Jones & Rant and 25 men employed on the municipal force between York road and Royal Oak. Wednesday morning a second force of men would commence grading on the municipality's section of Saanich road. Towards the end of the week the contractors stated that they will be employing about 75 men, and the municipality should by that time be employing an equal number, making a total of 150 men.

"With reference to this work," he said, "I have to report that the paving contractors, Warren Construction company, have made arrangements whereby Jones & Rant execute the necessary sub-grading and kerbing included in their paving contract. I have made the same proposal to the paving contractors which has been accepted, the work done for them by the municipality at actual cost plus ten per cent.

"I beg to report that the gate valves, a contract for which was let to Wm. O'Neill & Company, arrived yesterday and are being unloaded.

"I have been advised to-day by Mr. Cove (Balfour, Guthrie & Company) that the S. S. Crown of Seattle, which is expected here by August 3, has, in addition to some 300 tons of 4-inch and 6-inch pipes aboard, about 75 special castings, but the particular kinds of castings are yet unknown by Mr. Cove. Having the valves all here, and the promise of Oak Bay municipality to supply us with a considerable number of special castings, which will now enable us to make a start, I purpose commencing the trenching operations in Cloverdale district.

"I beg to report that after consulting Reeve McGregor I have purchased considerable waterworks plant and materials from Agnew & Young, for the sum of $175.

The report was adopted, and the material was ordered to be purchased.

The conditions prevalent at the Cordova Bay beach on Sundays and public holidays were the subject of several letters, and particularly the desirability of water service at the beach, the widening of the bay road and of telephone service. Some of the residents lodged objection to visitors appearing on the beach in scanty costume. The subject will be taken up with the police, and other responsible parties, and the engineer asked to report upon widening the road.

The engineer submitted a report, at the request of the school board, on the sanitary conditions prevalent at the schools. Bad conditions were reported at Elk Lake and Cedar Hill schools. He recommended that a book of rules on sanitation should be prepared, and issued to the janitors. The report will go to the school board.

Some discussion took place with regard to the drainage of University school, and this subject will have attention.

BODIES RECOVERED

That of Constable Burns Found in Fraser River, and Two Others of Unknown Men.

The body of Constable Burns, of the provincial police force, who was drowned in the Fraser river on May 15, has been recovered. Superintendent Campbell has been advised. Burns and Fire Warden Martin Clark had set out in a canoe from Fort George for Woodpecker island, fifty miles down the river, and had got about twenty miles below their starting point when the canoe upset and both were drowned.

The constable was about twenty-seven, unmarried, and had been a member of the provincial force since August, 1912. The body will be brought to Ladysmith for interment.

Chief Constable Aikie, Clinton, has wired to the superintendent of the finding of two bodies in the Fraser river, one at Lillooet and the other at High Bar. Both are those of men but there is nothing to give any clue to identity. The latter was that of a man almost six feet in height, well built, heavy jaw, small nose and good teeth. The other was that of a man between twenty and twenty-five years of age, five feet seven inches in height, and of medium build.

The Lunatic—"Where yer off to now?" The Man—"Going to have me dinner." The Lunatic—"What yer going ter have?" The Man—"Bread un cheese." The Lunatic—"Why don't yer go mad and have some meat?"

"Prisoner, have you anything to say?" "Only this, your honor. I'd be mighty sorry if th' young lawyer you assigned to me was ever called upon to defend an innocent man."

New Mounted Unit For Capital Has Enlisted For Active Service

MAJOR E. C. J. L. HENNIKER in command of the Victoria squadron, B. C. Horse, which is now mobilized at the Willows.

Few Victorians are aware that a new mounted unit has been organized in the capital within the last three weeks. It was along towards the middle of June that Major Henniker took up the problem of organizing a Victoria squadron, and that he has been successful in his efforts may be judged by the splendid force that is now in barracks at the Willows. The squadron will be used as reinforcements for the 2nd C. M. R., and every man of the new unit has taken the oath of overseas service if necessary.

Major Henniker now has a full complement at peace strength, and efforts are being made to raise the force to a war footing. In two weeks' recruiting, Major Henniker received over seventy satisfactory applicants, and another twenty-five had to be turned down for slight defects. He has been particularly fortunate in securing a number of former service men, and his non-commissioned officers, with one exception, wear active service ribbons. The squadron is now waiting for mounts from the government, and will be trained as a dismounted unit until their horses arrive.

Well known to Victorians, Major Henniker has been a resident of the Dominion for eleven years. He served eight years with the militia forces and previous to his coming to Victoria held a commission in the 22nd Saskatchewan Light Horse. He held a provisional captaincy in the 30th B. C. Horse from 1911 until his promotion to the command of the Victoria squadron. Capt. Spurgeon wears the South African medals for his service with the Imperial Yeomanry, while Mr. Lander, Mr. Dunsford, Mr. Eakin and Mr. Barton, have all spent part of their time in the Canadian militia.

SIXTY APPROVE THE SELECTION OF SITE

Magnificent Prospect From Saanich Hill for Observatory

A party of some sixty citizens visited the site of the new observatory, on Saanich hill, yesterday afternoon under the guidance of Commissioner Cuthbert, the Victoria and Island Development association having arranged the excursion.

While there is nothing on the site yet but the 75,000-gallon water tank, of which one-third is filled now, and some temporary shelters, the large party certainly appreciated the delightful view at the site. Powerful binoculars helped those present to scan the horizon and discover new beauties in the landscape. The air is clear and fresh at the summit, all agreeing that the site is unrivalled.

The future from a scenic and scientific standpoint is such that the value of the observatory was apparent to every visitor, and opinion was expressed on all hands that the pioneer motor cars will be followed by hundreds in the future. There was no formal speech-making during the afternoon.

Among those noticed present at the observatory site were Hon. Thomas Taylor, minister of works, with Mrs. Taylor; Hon. Archer Martin, Mayor Stewart, Aldermen McCandless, Fullerton, Okell, Sargent, McKicking and Tibbitts; Magistrate George Jay; P. Napier Denison (director of the Gonzales Observatory), Trustee Shortt, W. A. Jameson, Beaumont Boggs, J. L. Beckwith, J. R. Saunders, Capt. McIntosh, H. H. Jones, L. Thompson, Rev. J. McCoy, Rev. D. McRae, George Carter, C. H. Lugin, A. Le Page, Fletcher, A. F. Roy, Stephen Jones, W. J. Cave and D. W. Poupard.

WARNEFORD WAS FEARLESS.

Friend of Deceased Here Tells of His Daring Flights.

A great friend of Sub-Lieutenant Warneford, V. C., tells two true stories about him, the incidents having occurred recently on the other side. On one occasion he was "up" with a passenger looking for Zeppelins, Taubes, or anything that might come along. Suddenly a Taube was encountered, and the passenger tried to shoot, but his gun jammed whereupon Warneford did not wait for his passenger to take the second gun, but leaving the controls, he seized it himself, and letting the machine take care of herself in midair, he stood up, fired, and brought down the Taube. He then righted his own machine, which was entirely out of control, and in a most perilous situation, finally bringing himself and his passenger safely to earth.

On another occasion he was scouting with a passenger who had not been under fire before, when suddenly the German anti-aircraft guns opened upon them. Thereupon Warneford deliberately steered his machine towards some bursting shrapnel to what his passenger experienced as to what it felt like to have shrapnel bursting right alongside. The machine was hit all over, but Warneford and the passenger were not touched, and he descended in safety.

Already the naval arm of the war paid to the account of five Zeppelins, the total value received being well over one and a quarter million sterling.

"I say, auntie, uncle said this morning that there wasn't another woman like you in the world. 'Ah, the dear good fellow; did he really, Freddy.' 'Yes; and he said it was a jolly good job, too!'"

From a recent novel we extract the following passage: "The notary was walking in his garden with both his hands behind his back and reading a newspaper."

KENT GIVES CONCERT TO FOLKS ON SHORE

Merry Time at Drill Hall Smoker; Captain Allen Thanks Victorians

Indicating that the stay of H. M. S. Kent at Esquimalt is drawing to a close, Captain Allen, his officers and men last night gave a smoking concert at the drill hall to the local military and civilian authorities and to others whose guests they have been during the time of the stay of the Kent in harbor. The concert was in recognition of the good time the men have had since landing here after their fight down south and their eight months on the water.

There was a varied programme, including singing and musical selections and athletic indoor events. A welcome was given by Capt. Allen, and a reply made by Mayor Stewart. Following the toast of "The King," the guests proceeded to enjoy themselves heartily, there being no lack of entertainment or refreshment.

Capt. Allen briefly extended a welcome to all. The officers and men of the Kent, he knew, felt they were indebted to the people of Victoria for much hospitality and for a generally splendid time since landing. He wished the smoking concert to take the form of a return of hospitality from the shipmen, and a token of their appreciation of what had been done for them in Victoria. The stay here had been so enjoyable that it would not be forgotten by the ship's company for many a long day.

Mayor Stewart thanked Capt. Allen and wished the ship and her crew the best of luck. The programme was then begun.

The vocalists were Sgt. Woods, Lieut. A. Lane, Mr. Galt, Pte. Kellett and Jack Melville, the Scotch comedian.

A wrestling bout was staged between L. S. Rose, of H. M. S. Kent, and Pte. Gatenby, of the 88th Regiment, which went a long time without a fall of any kind. Gatenby, who was welterweight champion of the province, met an opponent well worthy of his attention, and the match eventually was declared a draw. The wrestlers were recipients of hearty applause for their work.

The Fifth Regiment band provided a number of musical selections, playing many popular airs, in which the whole house joined.

Among those present were officers representing the military units, Major Rous Cullen and Major Forsyth. Ald. Dilworth and Porter were with Mayor Stewart as civic representatives. H. B. Thomson, M.P.P., represented the government. The Campaigners' association was represented, and the B. C. A. A. U. by George Nicholson, its president.

It contains no caffeine or tannin (the drugs in tea and coffee)—nothing but the nourishing elements of whole wheat, roasted with a little wholesome molasses.

Postum comes in two forms: Postum Cereal—the original form—must be well boiled to bring out the flavor and food value—and Instant Postum—the soluble form—prepared in the cup with hot water instantly.

Grocers everywhere sell both kinds. They are equally delicious, and cost about the same per cup.

CONTRACTORS' PLANT

Friday, July 9, at 11 a.m.

Under and by virtue of a Writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of the Supreme Court of British Columbia and to me directed, against the goods and chattels of W. S. McDonald, in an action Charles Alexander Crosby vs. Stanley P. Dunlevy et al., I have seized and taken possession of the contracting plant of the said W. S. ## SPECIAL COUNCIL TO CONSIDER APPEAL

Assessment Situation Will Be Taken Up; Local Improvement Court To-morrow

The alterations in the civic assessment roll caused by the appeals which have been successfully made to county court from the decision of the municipal court of revision cannot be made until formal notification has been received from the court.

On that revision will depend the striking of the tax rate, which will probably be made at the next council meeting. The question whether or not the city will make an appeal in the Wilson cases on Government street, is to be taken up at a private meeting of the aldermen to-morrow afternoon. On the advice tendered by the acting city solicitor, the decision will be made. It is necessary to know what the assessment on land will be in 1915 before the rate can be struck, the amount being subdivided up among the items which are authorized by statute. The actual total of the court's change will not be large, when the amount appealed upon is only one-eighth of the total civic assessment.

After the rate is struck it will take some weeks to get the notices out to owners, hence the desire to have the figures finally settled. Last year the tax rate by-law went through council on June 2, but the situation was not then complicated by appeals.

As a corollary to the striking of the rate is the passage of the supplementary expenditure by-law introduced last Monday, which will inevitably involve some readjustment of the figures approved in February, although the allowances for additional expenditure will be counterbalanced by the appropriations which are to be cut down. It is improbable that there will be a larger sum than $1,425,000 required from the land tax this year. So far miscellaneous revenue receipts have been maintained, and it is hoped will remain constant for the balance of the year.

The following local improvement levies have been set for approval by the court of revision to-morrow: Douglas street, Fisgard street to Herald street, sidewalks, west side, $1,154. Quadra street, Burdett avenue to Blanshard avenue, boulevard, west side, $387. Elberts street, Snowden street to Bushby street, sidewalks, etc., $4,394. Chester street, Fairford road to Oscar street, paving, etc., $6,454. Blackwood street, Bay street to Hillside avenue, paving, etc., $25,760.

Von Bernhardt Brings His Book Up to Date

From the New York Sun.

The prophet of the present war and the apologist of Prussian militarism as Prussian militarists understand that term contributes to The Sun to-day another of his enlightening essays on the grievous situation. We say enlightening, because although the Von Bernhardt line of thought is really at this time about the blackest and narrowest line in the human spectrum there is naught available to American readers so thoroughly representative of the false philosophy, the inverted morality, the amazing onesidedness, of view, and the ruthlessness, the heartlessness of practical method which characterize the attitude and policy of the dominant group at Berlin; and which, in the stress of events, have so overspread Germany and so tinged the psychology of a forceful and intellectual nation as to become to many Germans a code almost synonymous with the word "patriotism."

In this sense the intelligent neutral will welcome and find most informing the argument for Prussian militarism as revised in the presence of actualities and brought to date by the able General of Cavalry just four years after the writing of his epoch making book. For, as Goethe said to Eckermann of Shakespeare, "He teaches us the mind of mankind," so it may now almost be said of Von Bernhardt, "He teaches us the mind of Germankind."

The book is plain enough as it presents itself to General Friedrich Von Bernhardt's perceptions: The war was forced upon Germany by the wicked militarism of France and Russia and the equally base navalism of England. Belgium was a guilty accomplice in the virtual violation of her own neutrality through military arrangements with the allies. France's militarism is mercenary and aggressive; for years the republic has been preparing with the one thought, to reconquer Alsace-Lorraine. Russia's militarism has likewise developed on lines of selfish interest, lines leading to the conquest of Constantinople and domination of the Balkan States. British militarism, of course, is of the seas; a menace to all nations having maritime interests, and particularly a menace to America. The quality, like the motives, of all this militarism opposed to Germany is of a low order. The reintroduction of the three years service term in France proved the ambitious aggressiveness of her intentions. Russia's training is to "a blind, machinelike, obedience which can never result in independent, conscious achievement." England's army (and inferentially her naval force) is "a horde of hirelings that serves for money and is ready to fight for any object, be it ever so reprehensible." Such, in short, is the character of the aggressive, offensive militarism arrayed against Germany at the outset of the war, plotting for Germany's destruction and menacing the peace of the world.

Now for a picture of the other sort of militarism as conceived by General Von Bernhardt, the defensive, innocent, highly civilized militarism of Germany, the development of what he calls the "illustrious" institution of universal conscription.

When, nearly eleven months ago, the militarisms of sinister intentions, over-preparation and criminal ambitions combined to force Kaiser Wilhelm to draw his sword in self-defence and in defence of the world's liberties and the higher interests of kultur, the allies encountered another militarism which the general of cavalry holds up to admiration in phrases like these: "The German nation's greatest propagator of kultur." "It has elevated a whole nation mentally and morally." "It has not confined itself to train the young men into fighters, it has also furthered and elevated humanity in them, which to-day is amply proved by the strength and conscience and the humane character of the methods of war."

aggressive intentions (of the allies) as a deceiving cloak to fool the neutrals."

"The world was flooded with lies and misrepresentations about the Germans and their militarism, and finally half the world allied itself to crush Germany."

"With God's help . . . this militarism, branded as a foe to civilization, will prove strong enough not only to maintain itself as an important factor of civilization in the coming era, but also to safeguard the freedom of nations and peace on earth!" Thus far General Von Bernhardt in his own words. It is a picture not so much of facts verifiable or arguments refutable as of a state of mind utterly beyond the range of useful controversy. The only criticism the Sun has to offer is that General Von Bernhardt perhaps shows weakness in conceding something to moral prejudices, as when he uses afterthoughts or after-events to explain or apologize for or extenuate those principles of German militarism which he postulated in advance four years ago so fearlessly and with such unimpaired scientific precision. Concerning his theory of a purely defensive war forced upon Germany in spite of herself, we have no other comment to make than to quote these two passages from his prophetic treatise written as long ago as the spring or summer of 1911:

"We have fought in the last great wars for our national union and our position among the powers of Europe; we now must decide whether we wish to develop into and maintain a world empire, and procure for German spirit and German ideas that fit recognition which has been hitherto withheld from them."

"In one way or another we must square our account with France, if we wish for a free hand in our international policy. This is the first and foremost condition. . . . The hostility of France once for all cannot be removed by peaceful overtures, the matter must be settled by force of arms. France must be so completely crushed that she can never again come across the path."

"At every point," we read, "the allies have made sensible progress. So different from the stupid progress made very occasionally by the enemy—Punch.
